No Appeal in $120,000 Judgment

State Must Pay Lipsett On Claim

Case Deals With Overpass Project

The final chapter in an action brought by Lipsett, Inc., contractors on the Broadway crossing elimination job, against the State of New York apparently has been written following the filing of a certificate of no appeal by the state from a judgment of $120,000 entered in the Court of Claims on December 5.

THIS JUDGMENT of $120,000 is in addtion to an award of $74,533.17 which was conceded by the state and entered on November 2, 1953.

The claim of Lipsett, Inc., was filed September 30, 1953, by N. LeVan Haver and Charles H. Gaffney, attorneys for claimant, to recover damages for breach of contract and negligence occasioned by the negligence of the state of New York in the preparation of plans and specifications for the construction of the Greenkill avenue sewer project.

IN EXCAVATING for the relocation of the necessary sewer through Greenkill avenue the plaintiffs claimed they ran into unforseen difficulties when they began to work in the close proximity of the existing old sanitary and storm sewer in Greenkill avenue. That sewer, built of thin concrete materials was in such poor condition that when work was commenced near it sections of the old sewer crumbled. The original plan called for construction of the newer drainage sewer within a matter of inches from the old sewer which had been in the street for many years.

IT BECAME necessary to relocate the new drainage sewer running from Broadway through Greenkill avenue and place it in the sidewalk area. That change necessitated the use of steel piling instead of the proposed wooden piling since the work was very close to buildings.

IN THE preparation of new plans there was allegedly delay and it became necessary to excavate to wider area in the substitution of steel for wooden piling.

It was also alleged that the original plans had not shown existence of ground water and when this condition, not revealed at the Broadway borings, was encountered additional pumping operations were necessary. The overall conditions on the site differed so completely from those shown in the plans that Lipsett, Inc., claim expensive delays ensued.

A CLAIM for damages was filed before Judge Charles Lambiase. Certain of the claims were admitted by the state and when conceded the $74,000 judgment was entered in October 1953. The second cause of action was tried in the Court of Claims at Albany on September 21-30, 1955.

The original claim filed was for $244,000, of which certain items were conceded and others

Kefauver Charges 'Freeze'

Democrats Active On Western Coast

By The Associated Press

Democrats maneuvered on the west coast while Republican eyes focused on the White House today.

Interest in White House doings centered on President Eisenhower's preview for congressional GOP chiefs of his forthcoming "State of the Union" message, and on the President's health, newly examined over the weekend.

ON THE WEST coast Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.), in Los Angeles, accused California Democratic party leaders yesterday of trying to freeze him out of the state primary election next June.

Kefauver, who says he'll announce soon whether he'll seek the Democratic presidential nomination next year, evidently referred to endorsements by top California Democrats of Adlai E. Stevenson for the '56 nomination.

"Most of the efforts of the party leaders in California have been directed toward keeping me out of the Democratic primary," the Tennessean told newsmen.

"I DON'T THINK that is a good thing. The only chance the people have to express their opinion is in the primary."

In Oregon some Stevenson backers were reported getting no encouragement from the Stevenson camp in efforts to place his name on the state primary ballot.

A candidate's name can go on the ballot there, without his consent, if a petition carries the signatures of 1,000 voters. One early signer of petitions started by two Reed College students was Oregon State Rep. Maurine Neuberger, wife of U. S. Sen. Richard L. Neuberger. She says she will support Stevenson for the top nomination, and hopes Kefaufer will be nominated for vice president.

HOWARD MORGAN, Democratic state chairman, said he telephoned Stevenson campaign leaders Saturday and "none of them mentioned that Stevenson had decided to enter the Oregon primary."

Stevenson, meantime, received pledge of support from Sen. Murray (D.-Mont.) yesterday and Murray's assurance that Montana's 16 convention votes would go to him next year.

HOWEVER there were indications that Stevenson was not making as much progress in southern states as some of his friends hoped. Dixie hostility cost Stevenson four states in that area in 1952.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), who as a presidential candidate three years ago got many convention votes from the south, said he believes it still too early to tell how that area will go next year.

REPUBLICANS studied the report by Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, Eisenhower's personal physician, that the President's general condition was "good" in his convalescence from his Sept. 24 heart attack but that he should "slow down" his activities.

Snyder indicated it would be mid-February before Eisenhower knows from a physical standpoint whether he's in fit condition to run for another term in the White House.

Some Republicans have been urging Eisenhower to declare his intentions soon so potential presidential candidates will know where they stand.

Polio Dwindles

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—The State Health Department said today that polio incidence in the counties outside New York city had "dwindled toward the customary low levels of wintertime." For that reason, the department said, its weekly bulletin on polio incidence would be discontinued.

Yerry Buys Garage Site For Group

A reliable source reported today a contract of sale for Wiltwyck Motors property, 112 North Front street, including a Washington avenue access, by John Bennett and Edwin T. Kolb, owners, to George A. Yerry, Jr., of Kingston.

Mr. Yerry is acting in behalf of a group of investors. The use of the property by the new owners had not been determined. An announcement is expected in a few days.

The transaction involves approximately two acres at the rear of the North Front street building.

Ike Tells Program to Reporters

Time Too Short To Talk Politics

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—President Eisenhower told Republican congressional leaders today that his 1956 legislative program envisions a balanced budget by next June and a start on big road building and school construction programs.

UNDER ORDERS from his doctors to "slow down," the President limited his personal meeting with the GOP leaders to three hours.

He left the legislative conference, in the White House cabinet room, at 11:30 a. m. (EST) and went to his residential quarters for the prescribed mid-day rest period of 2½ hours.

The preview of the legislative program continued for another hour, however, with cabinet officers taking over from the President in presenting it.

THE SESSIONS were halted then for lunch, but were to be resumed at 2 p. m. (EST) to take up farm legislation, "amendments to immigration legislation, civil rights, labor legislation, postal rates and housing and area redevelopment programs."

That part of the program outlined at the forenoon meeting was described as calling for "construction of additional schoolrooms to clear-up the back-log of a 200,000-room deficiency in the nation."

WHITE HOUSE News Secretary James C. Hagerty issued a statement after the four hour meeting while Republican congressional leaders reserved any statement they may have until after the afternoon session.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate GOP leader, said the afternoon session may last for "several hours."

Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the House GOP leader, said no politics was discussed at the meeting. He told reporters:

"THERE WAS no time for any political discussion."

Hagerty said the President left the conference a few times to take telephone calls but spent most of his three hours at the work table.

This probably will be one of Eisenhower's longest work periods until after Congress reconvenes in January. He will go back to his Gettysburg, Pa. farm tomorrow afternoon after a morning conference with both Democrats and Republicans on military and foreign affairs.

Hagerty's statement, read to reporters at a news conference, said:

"THE PRESIDENT met today in the cabinet room with the Republican leaders of the Senate and House of Representatives.

"General preliminary discussions were held on many of the domestic proposals which will be submitted by the administration to the Congress in the State of the Union and other special messages at the 1956 session.

"A GENERAL discussion of foreign policy, military aid and national defense proposals will be held tomorrow when the President meets with the legislative leaders of both parties.

"This morning the main subjects discussed were the budget, school room construction, highways, water resources and statehood for Alaska and Hawaii.

"The Secretary of the Treasury and the director of the budget outlined the fiscal plans for the 1957 budget as well as the projected receipts and expenditures for the 1956 budget.

"THE SECRETARY and the director were hopeful that with increasing economies and no loss of existing revenues a balance in the 1956 budget could be obtained in June without cutting

Hyde Park Man Dies in Area Crash

Eight Are Injured, One Arrest Made

A Hyde Park man was killed and eight persons injured in a four-car accident early Sunday morning on the westerly downgrade aproach to the Mid-Hudson bridge, Highland state police reported.

Louis Lang, 42, died at Vassar Bros. Hospital, Poughkeepsie, at 5:33 a. m. Sunday as the result of injuries suffered in a mishap on Route 44-55 at 3:05 a. m. about mid-way between the Highland traffic circle and the Mid-Hudson bridge, troopers said.

Charles Hicks, 21, of Hopewell Junction, was reported in critical condition at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

LISTED IN FAIR condition were Carl Rose, 22, of Wappingers Falls, and John O'Donald, 21, of Poughkeepsie, both at Vassar Hospital, and Max Buchwald, 62, of Newburgh, and Barbara Watkins, 20, of Poughkeepsie, both at St. Francis Hospital. In good condition at Vassar Hospital was Beverly Wiser, 18, of Poughkeepsie. Sam Cioffi, 39, of Poughkeepsie, was given emergency treatment at St. Francis and Larry Doerr, 18, of Poughkeepsie, emergency treatment at Vassar, and released.

Mr. Hicks was reported to have suffered a fractured skull and multiple lacerations. Mr. Rose suffered scalp lacerations, Mr. Buchwald chest injuries, Miss Watkins a laceration of the left arm, Mr. O'Donald cerebral contusions and Miss Wiser a laceration of the left hand. Mr. Cioffi was reported to have a possible rib fracture and Mr. Doerr a lacerated right hand.

STATE POLICE reported that Mr. Lang was operating a 1950 sedan west on Route 44-55 when he was in a head-on collision with a 1955 sedan operated by Mr. Hicks, traveling west.

A third car, a 1948 sedan operated by Mr. Cioffi, traveling east, stopped on the right side of the road and Mr. Cioffi got out to render assistance, troopers said. A fourth car, a 1951 sedan operated by Ernest Brown, 21, of Poughkeepsie, traveling east, struck the Lang car and Mr. Cioffi and Miss Watkins,

Service Clubs to See IBM Film

Defense Computers Off Security Listing

The Kingston area this week is scheduled to receive its first official insight on the defense work being done by International Business Machines Corporation at its new plant on Neighborhood Road with the release of a heretofore secret film which describes the "SAGE" system, a new concept in continental air defense.

The film, produced by Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will have its first public viewing locally on Thursday at the Kingston Kiwanis Club meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel. It will be used by Robert P. Crago, assistant general manager of IBM Kingston, to document a talk before the club.

In the future, it also will be shown to the Kingston Rotary and Lions clubs.

THE SOUND-COLOR movie punctuates the importancee of IBM's role in the "SAGE" (Semi-automatic Ground Environment) system and, thus, that of the new Kingston IBM plant which was designed specifically for the manufacture of digital computers for use in the system and which is now in large-scale operation.

The film also will point up, indirectly, the ever-increasing importance of the Mid-Hudson valley in the national defense effort.

EVEN PRIOR to the recent announcement that IBM at Poughkeepsie had been awarded an $11,640,288 contract for supplying bombing and navigational equipment to the U. S. Air Force, IBM was ranked 39th among American industries for the size of defense contracts as the result of a recent compilation by the Senate Preparedness Investigating subcommittee.

The recently-awarded contract was the largest of a series of them, totaling more than $14,-

Growers To Convene Wednesday

Three-Day Show Set at Armory

The 101st Eastern Meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society will be held at the state armory on Manor avenue on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

Space for the trade exhibits has been completely sold out for some time with 60 exhibitors participating.

THE SOCIETY meeting, which is usually held in January, is being held a month earlier to ascertain if Hudson Valley and New England growers like an earlier session. Many of the problems of the industry should be discussed earlier in the marketing season so they will do more good, officers of the society believe.

The following program has been scheduled:

Wednesday morning—10 a. m. How Well Are We Staying Within Residue Tolerances With Our Present Spray Program? What Modifications Can We Make? A. A. LaPlante, extension entomologist, Cornell University.

10:30 a. m. Controlling Codling Moth in the Mid-West, Don Hamilton, entomologist-in-charge, USDA Experiment Station, Vincennes, Ind. 11 a. m. Observations and Results of Insecticide Control Tests in the Hudson Valley 1955, Ralph Dean, Poughkeepsie. 11:30 a. m. Recommendations for Insect Control

8 Drivers Are Held On Charges

A driver was held on a charge of driving while intoxicated early Sunday, four were charged with speeding early today and two were held on speeding charges Sunday night.

Another driver was arrested early Sunday on a charge of driving at a dangerous speed and was given a ticket for going the wrong way on East Strand.

FRANK PIRIGYI, 22, of Box 253, East Kingston, was arrested by Officers Everett Emmick and Gilbert Gray on East Strand and charged with driving while intoxicated after the car he drove struck another.

City Judge Raymond J. Mino today fined him $50 and revoked his license after he pleaded guilty.

A police report at 2:55 a. m., said that the car driven by Pirigyi, had crossed to the left side of East Strand and struck a car owned by Frederick C. Cadden, of 285 East Strand.

Harold W. Johnson, 26, of Hoyt street, Port Ewen, was arrested by Officer Thomas Whispell on East Strand on the charge of driving at a dangerous speed, and was issued the ticket for driving the wrong-way on the street. He forfeited $25 bail through failure to appear today before Judge Mino.

OF THE ALLEGED speeders, two were picked up Sunday night by Officers Joseph Keller and Thomas Whispell. They were

Mink Stole Reported Missing at Goldman's

A mink stole valued at $632.50 was reported missing from Goldman's, 1 Main street, Saturday night.

Bernard Goldman, proprietor of the store, notified police at 9:25 p. m., Saturday that the stole was one of three in a window. It was in the display, as originally placed when he looked there earlier in the day, he said, but it was gone when he looked at about 8:30 p. m.

Detective Clarence Brophy is investigating.

North Ohioville Hunter Shot Sunday, Fair Today

Wayne Ackert, 15, of North Ohioville road, town of New Paltz, who was struck in the calf of his left leg with a .22 caliber bullet early Sunday afternoon while hunting with two companions, was reported in "apparently fairly good" condition today at Kingston Hospital.

County Investigator Arthur Brown said young Ackert was hunting rabbits with David Oliver, 15, and Ronald Mackey, 14, both of New Paltz, at the time of the mishap.

According to Deputy Peter Peterson, who was assigned to the case, young Oliver thought he saw something in the bushes but when he raised his rifle to fire the barrel hit a branch and accidentally discharged, the bullet striking Ackert in the leg.

The Oliver and Mackey youths carried Ackert from the woods to the North Ohioville road and one of them ran to the home of Michael Yess nearby. Mr. Yess took the injured youth to a local physician who sent him to the hospital, Deputy Peterson reported.

Mr. Peterson confiscated the two 22 caliber rifles used by the boys. Parents of the boys told the deputy they did not know the youths had taken the guns.

The boys left home about 10:30 a. m., Sunday. Mr. Brown said the accident probably occured between that time and noon. He said the investigation is continuing.

Local Man Pilots Jet To Tripoli Maneuvers

First Lieutenant Thomas L. McNierney, son of Mrs. Rose Rafferty of 6 Cottage Row, is presently stationed with the 71st Bomber Squadron in Tripoli for a month of bombing and gunnery practice.

Attached to the bomber squadron at Laon, France, Lt. McNierney flew to Tripoli after Thanksgiving.

A graduate of Kingston High School, he entered service in October, 1942 and following his commission as pilot served in the Western Pacific Theatre before the end of World War 2. He was discharged in 1946 and returned to Kingston.

Following his discharge, he served as civilian instructor of the Air Force at Spence Air Force Base, Ga., with the Hawthorne School of Aeronautics. He was recalled to duty after the outbreak of the Korean conflict and assigned to the 2nd Tow Target Squadron, New Castle, Del.

In March 1955 he entered training in the B-57 B jet bomber at Randolph Air Force Base, Texas. Upon completion of the course he ferried one of the B-57's overseas to his new outfit at Laon where he is attached to the 71st Bomber Squadron TAC as a combat crew.

Residing in France with Lt. McNierney is his wife, the former Virginia Lewis of Stone Ridge and Kingston. Upon completion of the overseas tour, the McNierneys will return to the U.S. in July 1958.

Teamsters Plan Opposing Officer Slate Tonight

Yonkers, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—An insurgent group plans to put up an opposition slate of candidates at a nominating meeting tonight of Local 445, AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The group is opposing reelection of Francis Stickles, secretary-treasurer, and Philip Massiello, of Middletown, business agent, who were convicted a month ago in New York federal court of extorting $64,000 from employers by threatening them with "labor trouble." They are out on bail pending appeal.

Theodore Daley, of Poughkeepsie, head of the opposition group, is seeking the nomination for secretary-treasurer to succeed Stickles. The insurgents also plan to present the names of five men for nomination for business agent.

Daley said the international union sought to oust Stickles but was halted by a Westchester county court injunction obtained by Stickles.

About 250 rebellious members of the local met at Newburgh Saturday night to plan for tonight's meeting.

Daley said the election will be held at a later meeting, within 10 days after tonight's session, and that the new officers will take their posts Jan. 1.

No Appeal in $120,000 Judgment

State Must Pay Lipsett On Claim

Case Deals With Overpass Project

The final chapter in an action brought by Lipsett, Inc., contractors on the Broadway crossing elimination job, against the State of New York apparently has been written following the filing of a certificate of no appeal by the state from a judgment of $120,000 entered in the Court of Claims on December 5.

THIS JUDGMENT of $120,000 is in addtion to an award of $74,533.17 which was conceded by the state and entered on November 2, 1953.

The claim of Lipsett, Inc., was filed September 30, 1953, by N. LeVan Haver and Charles H. Gaffney, attorneys for claimant, to recover damages for breach of contract and negligence occasioned by the negligence of the state of New York in the preparation of plans and specifications for the construction of the Greenkill avenue sewer project.

IN EXCAVATING for the relocation of the necessary sewer through Greenkill avenue the plaintiffs claimed they ran into unforseen difficulties when they began to work in the close proximity of the existing old sanitary and storm sewer in Greenkill avenue. That sewer, built of thin concrete materials was in such poor condition that when work was commenced near it sections of the old sewer crumbled. The original plan called for construction of the newer drainage sewer within a matter of inches from the old sewer which had been in the street for many years.

IT BECAME necessary to relocate the new drainage sewer running from Broadway through Greenkill avenue and place it in the sidewalk area. That change necessitated the use of steel piling instead of the proposed wooden piling since the work was very close to buildings.

IN THE preparation of new plans there was allegedly delay and it became necessary to excavate to wider area in the substitution of steel for wooden piling.

It was also alleged that the original plans had not shown existence of ground water and when this condition, not revealed at the Broadway borings, was encountered additional pumping operations were necessary. The overall conditions on the site differed so completely from those shown in the plans that Lipsett, Inc., claim expensive delays ensued.

A CLAIM for damages was filed before Judge Charles Lambiase. Certain of the claims were admitted by the state and when conceded the $74,000 judgment was entered in October 1953. The second cause of action was tried in the Court of Claims at Albany on September 21-30, 1955.

The original claim filed was for $244,000, of which certain items were conceded and others

Kefauver Charges 'Freeze'

Democrats Active On Western Coast

By The Associated Press

Democrats maneuvered on the west coast while Republican eyes focused on the White House today.

Interest in White House doings centered on President Eisenhower's preview for congressional GOP chiefs of his forthcoming "State of the Union" message, and on the President's health, newly examined over the weekend.

ON THE WEST coast Sen. Kefauver (D.-Tenn.), in Los Angeles, accused California Democratic party leaders yesterday of trying to freeze him out of the state primary election next June.

Kefauver, who says he'll announce soon whether he'll seek the Democratic presidential nomination next year, evidently referred to endorsements by top California Democrats of Adlai E. Stevenson for the '56 nomination.

"Most of the efforts of the party leaders in California have been directed toward keeping me out of the Democratic primary," the Tennessean told newsmen.

"I DON'T THINK that is a good thing. The only chance the people have to express their opinion is in the primary."

In Oregon some Stevenson backers were reported getting no encouragement from the Stevenson camp in efforts to place his name on the state primary ballot.

A candidate's name can go on the ballot there, without his consent, if a petition carries the signatures of 1,000 voters. One early signer of petitions started by two Reed College students was Oregon State Rep. Maurine Neuberger, wife of U. S. Sen. Richard L. Neuberger. She says she will support Stevenson for the top nomination, and hopes Kefaufer will be nominated for vice president.

HOWARD MORGAN, Democratic state chairman, said he telephoned Stevenson campaign leaders Saturday and "none of them mentioned that Stevenson had decided to enter the Oregon primary."

Stevenson, meantime, received pledge of support from Sen. Murray (D.-Mont.) yesterday and Murray's assurance that Montana's 16 convention votes would go to him next year.

HOWEVER there were indications that Stevenson was not making as much progress in southern states as some of his friends hoped. Dixie hostility cost Stevenson four states in that area in 1952.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), who as a presidential candidate three years ago got many convention votes from the south, said he believes it still too early to tell how that area will go next year.

REPUBLICANS studied the report by Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, Eisenhower's personal physician, that the President's general condition was "good" in his convalescence from his Sept. 24 heart attack but that he should "slow down" his activities.

Snyder indicated it would be mid-February before Eisenhower knows from a physical standpoint whether he's in fit condition to run for another term in the White House.

Some Republicans have been urging Eisenhower to declare his intentions soon so potential presidential candidates will know where they stand.

Service Clubs to See IBM Film

Defense Computers Off Security Listing

The Kingston area this week is scheduled to receive its first official insight on the defense work being done by International Business Machines Corporation at its new plant on Neighborhood Road with the release of a heretofore secret film which describes the "SAGE" system, a new concept in continental air defense.

The film, produced by Massachusetts Institute of Technology, will have its first public viewing locally on Thursday at the Kingston Kiwanis Club meeting at the Governor Clinton Hotel. It will be used by Robert P. Crago, assistant general manager of IBM Kingston, to document a talk before the club.

In the future, it also will be shown to the Kingston Rotary and Lions clubs.

THE SOUND-COLOR movie punctuates the importancee of IBM's role in the "SAGE" (Semi-autcmatic Ground Environment) system and, thus, that of the new Kingston IBM plant which was designed specifically for the manufacture of digital computers for use in the system and which is now in large-scale operation.

The film also will point up, indirectly, the ever-increasing importance of the Mid-Hudson valley in the national defense effort.

EVEN PRIOR to the recent announcement that IBM at Poughkeepsie had been awarded an $11,640,288 contract for supplying bombing and navigational equipment to the U. S. Air Force, IBM was ranked 39th among American industries for the size of defense contracts as the result of a recent compilation by the Senate Preparedness Investigating subcommittee.

The recently-awarded contract was the largest of a series of them, totaling more than $14,-

The 101st Eastern Meeting of the New York State Horticultural Society will be held at the state armory on Manor avenue on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week.

THE SOCIETY meeting, which is usually held in January, is being held a month earlier to ascertain if Hudson Valley and New England growers like an earlier session. The following program has been scheduled:

Teamsters Plan Opposing Officer Slate Tonight

Yonkers, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—An insurgent group plans to put up an opposition slate of candidates at a nominating meeting tonight of Local 445, AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

The group is opposing reelection of Francis Stickles, secretary-treasurer, and Philip Massiello, of Middletown, business agent, who were convicted a month ago in New York federal court of extorting $64,000 from employers by threatening them with "labor trouble." They are out on bail pending appeal.

Theodore Daley, of Poughkeepsie, head of the opposition group, is seeking the nomination for secretary-treasurer to succeed Stickles. The insurgents also plan to present the names of five men for nomination for business agent.

Daley said the international union sought to oust Stickles but was halted by a Westchester county court injunction obtained by Stickles.

About 250 rebellious members of the local met at Newburgh Saturday night to plan for tonight's meeting.

Daley said the election will be held at a later meeting, within 10 days after tonight's session, and that the new officers will take their posts Jan. 1.

North Ohioville Hunter Shot Sunday, Fair Today

Wayne Ackert, 15, of North Ohioville road, town of New Paltz, who was struck in the calf of his left leg with a .22 caliber bullet early Sunday afternoon while hunting with two companions, was reported in "apparently fairly good" condition today at Kingston Hospital.

County Investigator Arthur Brown said young Ackert was hunting rabbits with David Oliver, 15, and Ronald Mackey, 14, both of New Paltz, at the time of the mishap.

According to Deputy Peter Peterson, who was assigned to the case, young Oliver thought he saw something in the bushes but when he raised his rifle to fire the barrel hit a branch and accidentally discharged, the bullet striking Ackert in the leg.

The Oliver and Mackey youths carried Ackert from the woods to the North Ohioville road and one of them ran to the home of Michael Yess nearby. Mr. Yess took the injured youth to a local physician who sent him to the hospital, Deputy Peterson reported.

Mr. Peterson confiscated the two 22 caliber rifles used by the boys. Parents of the boys told the deputy they did not know the youths had taken the guns.

The boys left home about 10:30 a. m., Sunday. Mr. Brown said the accident probably occured between that time and noon. He said the investigation is continuing.

Old Stagecoach Used in Plea For Modern R9

Schroon Lake, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—A 98-year-old, horse-drawn stagecoach rolled out of this Adirondack community toward Albany today on a journey designed to point up the "horse-and-buggy" condition of parts of the road—Route 9.

"Operation Stagecoach" was organized by the Schroon Lake and Chestertown - Pottersville chambers of commerce as a demonstration against delay in reconstruction of the route. Members of the operation committee were concerned particularly about a 7.8-mile stretch between here and Pottersville.

Cheers rose from onlookers as the horses clopped away through the snow. The coach left here at about 7:30 a. m. and was expected to arrive at the state capitol tomorrow morning (11:30 a. m.), with its cargo of letters and petitions from citizens seeking action by Gov. Harriman. The cargo also included an eight-foot Adirondack spruce and Christmas ornaments, to be given to Harriman.

The coach bore a sign reading, "a good route deserves a good road—reconstruct Route 9 now."

Two Top GOP Men Hit Stevenson On Farm Issues

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Two top administration officials turned their verbal guns on Adlai E. Stevenson yesterday in the argument over the farm question.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson said the problem of piled-up farm surpluses and declining farm prices began with the Democrats, labor had nothing to do with it, and Stevenson well knows it.

Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament, said he expects Stevenson "will have to" debate him on farm issues before the 1956 election campaign is over.

BENSON ISSUED his statement through the Republican National Committee in reply to a Stevenson speech before the AFL-CIO convention in New York last Thursday.

Stevenson, a candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, spoke then of "what appears to be a design" of "ugly politics." He said "it started with the secretary of agriculture's attempt to blame the farmer's current depression on the city worker's wage increase."

Benson said Stevenson had "misrepresented my views."

ACTUALLY, declared Benson, the farm problem "grew out of the Democrat administration's refusal to face facts. Labor had nothing to do with the origin of the farmer's troubles, as Mr. Stevenson well knows."

The GOP farm chief said past Democratic programs encouraged farmers to overproduce and "as a result of these programs, farm prices today are out of line with profits and wages. I said just that before the Farm Equipment Institute in New Orleans on Sept. 20, 1955."

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Chiropractic Assn. of New York seeks an investigation of what it calls a "conspiracy" by medical and pharmaceutical groups to keep chiropractors from being licensed by the state.

In a resolution adopted at its convention yesterday, the association called on Gov. Harriman and the Legislature to investigate opposition by the State Medical Society and the State Pharmaceutical Society to licensing legislation for chiropractors.

THE ASSOCIATION claimed the two groups had violated the law and "common decency" in fighting licensing bills.

The association, which claims 3,000 members throughout the state, said the convention had also directed that court action be taken against the two groups but did not elaborate.

John S. Coia of Rochester, president of the association, said the State Medical Society spent $31,992.10 in a "six-month fight" to defeat licensing legislation proposed in 1953. He said this figure was reported by the medical society itself and published in its official publication.

HE SAID THE medical society at the same time gave "full credit" to the pharmaceutical society for its assistance, financial and otherwise, in defeating the licensing bills.

The association's resolution, addressed to Harriman and legislative leaders, said:

"We do not propose to invade the precincts of the medical profession, nor do we ask the state Legislature to give chiropractic a blanket endorsement, but only that the education law be amended to provide uniform standards and educational requirements for our particular branch of the healing arts."

The association said the profession is now regulated and licensed in 44 states and the District of Columbia.

Old Stagecoach Used in Plea For Modern R9

Schroon Lake, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—A 98-year-old, horse-drawn stagecoach rolled out of this Adirondack community toward Albany today on a journey designed to point up the "horse-and-buggy" condition of parts of the road—Route 9.

"Operation Stagecoach" was organized by the Schroon Lake and Chestertown - Pottersville chambers of commerce as a demonstration against delay in reconstruction of the route. Members of the operation committee were concerned particularly about a 7.8-mile stretch between here and Pottersville.

Cheers rose from onlookers as the horses clopped away through the snow. The coach left here at about 7:30 a. m. and was expected to arrive at the state capitol tomorrow morning (11:30 a. m.), with its cargo of letters and petitions from citizens seeking action by Gov. Harriman. The cargo also included an eight-foot Adirondack spruce and Christmas ornaments, to be given to Harriman.

The coach bore a sign reading, "a good route deserves a good road—reconstruct Route 9 now."

Two Top GOP Men Hit Stevenson On Farm Issues

Washington, Dec. 12 (AP)—Two top administration officials turned their verbal guns on Adlai E. Stevenson yesterday in the argument over the farm question.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson said the problem of piled-up farm surpluses and declining farm prices began with the Democrats, labor had nothing to do with it, and Stevenson well knows it.

Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's special assistant on disarmament, said he expects Stevenson "will have to" debate him on farm issues before the 1956 election campaign is over.

BENSON ISSUED his statement through the Republican National Committee in reply to a Stevenson speech before the AFL-CIO convention in New York last Thursday.

Stevenson, a candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, spoke then of "what appears to be a design" of "ugly politics." He said "it started with the secretary of agriculture's attempt to blame the farmer's current depression on the city worker's wage increase."

Benson said Stevenson had "misrepresented my views."

ACTUALLY, declared Benson, the farm problem "grew out of the Democrat administration's refusal to face facts. Labor had nothing to do with the origin of the farmer's troubles, as Mr. Stevenson well knows."

The GOP farm chief said past Democratic programs encouraged farmers to overproduce and "as a result of these programs, farm prices today are out of line with profits and wages. I said just that before the Farm Equipment Institute in New Orleans on Sept. 20, 1955."

Chiropractors Are Asking Check on License Denial

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—The Chiropractic Assn. of New York seeks an investigation of what it calls a "conspiracy" by medical and pharmaceutical groups to keep chiropractors from being licensed by the state.

In a resolution adopted at its convention yesterday, the association called on Gov. Harriman and the Legislature to investigate opposition by the State Medical Society and the State Pharmaceutical Society to licensing legislation for chiropractors.

THE ASSOCIATION claimed the two groups had violated the law and "common decency" in fighting licensing bills.

The association, which claims 3,000 members throughout the state, said the convention had also directed that court action be taken against the two groups but did not elaborate.

John S. Coia of Rochester, president of the association, said the State Medical Society spent $31,992.10 in a "six-month fight" to defeat licensing legislation proposed in 1953. He said this figure was reported by the medical society itself and published in its official publication.

HE SAID THE medical society at the same time gave "full credit" to the pharmaceutical society for its assistance, financial and otherwise, in defeating the licensing bills.

The association's resolution, addressed to Harriman and legislative leaders, said:

"We do not propose to invade the precincts of the medical profession, nor do we ask the state Legislature to give chiropractic a blanket endorsement, but only that the education law be amended to provide uniform standards and educational requirements for our particular branch of the healing arts."

The association said the profession is now regulated and licensed in 44 states and the District of Columbia.

WALT DISNEY'S True Life Adventures

City Without Papers Like Losing Glasses

By JAMES G. CROSSLEY
NEA Staff Correspondent

Detroit—(NEA)—Here's a city that's acting like a cigarette smoker who has emptied his last pack and the drug store is closed until morning.

The people are irritable and jumpy. The old daily schedule is shot to Hebrides.

Absent-mindedly they keep feeling through their pockets only to become conscious once more that they have to face the bitter fact — there just aren't any local newspapers.

They wish to goodness the 116 steoreotype workers would settle their strike against Detroit's three papers and let 4,500 employes get back to printing them again.

It's not that a big fence has been built about the city and that they are ignorant of the news. But as a store clerk puts it, "You have to work at getting it." You have to know where and when.

THE ALLIED PRINTING TRADES and laid-off newsmen are putting out an eight-page paper to fill the gap. It's 125,000 copies take care of many who come downtown and hunt them out.

Radio stations have put on additional news programs as a public service. Theaters list their movies on the air a couple of times a day. Radio also provides 15 minutes of leading stock quotations.

The newsprint shortage has helped thin out the news. Canadian papers from Windsor and as far away as Toronto carry the bulk of the load. There are only a few from Toledo, Chicago or New York on the corner stands.

The nearby Ann Arbor News explained on the front page that their newsprint stocks would only allow them to increase their press runs by 2,000 and these would be reserved for Detroit suburbs.

YOU WORK AT GETTING copies of what papers are available. The average reader used to front door delivery never sees them. On Sunday the stock was gone in an hour and droves of autoists trekked from one store to another hunting in vain, often accompanied by funnies-hungry kids.

Other less orthodox lines of communication have popped up. The struck papers are keeping news flowing through a pooled effort in a hotel room. Four mimeograph reports daily go to radio stations and others vitally concerned. One department store is using these reports for hand bills.

A Polish language paper has switched to English.

Strikes are nothing in Detroit. The people have learned patience.

"You could even learn to live without false teeth," said one voluble subscriber. "But you'd miss the steaks."

WIVES QUIP ABOUT seeing their husbands' faces at the breakfast table at last. One wished the papers would hurry back, explaining, "We have now reached the stage where breakfast is a game of matching symptoms of our illnesses."

Street cleaners are happy. Banks see a difference in the circulation of coins.

Magazine sales have spurted. Commuters from Royal Oak have resorted to pocket books or in some desperate cases to conversation.

Most pathetic victims are the lone restaurant diners. In a last ditch effort to keep habit alive they resort to reading the menu. Word for word.

AT HOME PEOPLE fumble about. Biggest complaint centers about TV-radio programs, crossword puzzles and the comics.

The unions' paper carries a condensation of daily comic continuities. It's a poor substitute for the real thing.

"It's worse than when I misplace my glasses," one woman complained. "Half a dozen times a day I find myself hunting the paper."

There's a dangerous paralysis setting in among the muscles of the community. Meetings are poorly attended and the work of civic organizations has sunk from view.

THE LARGE STORES SAY that just as many children as ever are giving their requests to Santa.

The momentum of gift buying is keeping the crowds at last years' level but, said one store, "Heaven help us if it were sale time."

The smaller merchants are suffering. The real estate business is almost non-existant. The garrish lights only add to the desolation of the used car lots.

Funeral directors echo the complaint of much of the public that the obituaries are the most missed item of local news.

EVEN BOOKIES ARE complaining. The steady bettor can get the race entries from forms and other ways, reported one, but the two-dollar guy is gone like summer.

The three papers have a combined circulation of over a million and a quarter. The estimated weekly loss in salaries alone is a half million dollars.

Other costs are unfathomable. The Detroit News, for one example, has a warehouse full of 144-page roto sections full of beautiful Christmas advertising in color. It should have been circulated the Sunday after the strike began. Its fate is problematical.

Members of a proud craft, the strikers aren't enjoying it either.

"WITH ALL MY troubles I can find only one bright spot," a wife of a stereotyper said. "We found an old pair of long underwear in the attic that my husband bought years ago for tobagonning."

Sadly, among the chief victims of the strike are the city's underpriviliged kids. As most papers do, all three here were up to their Santa Claus beard's in an effort to raise money and collect clothing for the children. The Goodfellows and the old newsboys were to sell special papers Dec. 19. There are bound to be empty stockings.

Nothing illustrated more bleakly than this how the roots of a community are blighted when its newspapers fall silent.

AVERELL IS SERIOUS

Carmine DeSapio, Tammany boss and chief political lieutenant to Governor Averell Harriman of New York, has added another dimension to the 1956 race for the Democratic presidential nomination. He has made clear Harriman is no token candidate.

Harriman himself has consistently asserted he is not in the fight, but this has always been taken to mean he would not enter primaries or other strenuous campaign activities.

All along it has been known his name would be presented to the Chicago convention as a favorite son. But observers were divided on whether this meant he was a serious prospect "hanging in" to see if Adlai Stevenson might falter, or merely a token figure bent on holding his strength out until the strategic moment.

DeSapio said in so many words that the New Yorkers are not playing games. What that signifies is that if there is the slightest sign that Stevenson is slipping from his present party eminence, Harriman and his backers will go with a rush.

It is even conceivable that, by one means or another, they might seek to bring about Stevenson's decline. In politics it happens all the time.

HAZARDOUS 20 PER CENT

The safety experts are in the habit of directing their remarks to all motorists in their campaigns to reduce highway fatalities. This is certainly advisable, since everyone needs to be prodded to stay on the alert when he gets behind the wheel. But evidence suggests that a general appeal isn't enough.

About 80 per cent of our traffic accidents are caused by only 20 per cent of the drivers, according to the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Company.

This 20 per cent more often than not shows a record of both repeated law violations and repeated accidents. Safety experts rate these people "accident prone" and doubt that fatality and injury totals will drop materially so long as they operate cars in their accustomed fashion.

Every car improvement designed for safety—better brakes, tires, power for acceleration in passing—is taken by the 20 per cent as invitation to new risks. As each new device widens the margin of safety, these drivers promptly close it again by pressing their luck at higher levels.

It's time the dangerous 20 per cent of drivers who cause four-fifths of the accidents got the special attention they deserve.

Instead of merely waiting for opportunity to knock, be ready to greet it through preparation. Being ready at the right moment is a big part of the secret of success.

OUR QUIETEST CITIES

Most people asked to name the quietest cities in the nation would be apt to think of the smaller ones. They would be partly right. The National Noise Abatement Council has given its 1955 achievement awards to two moderate-sized cities, Memphis, Tenn., and Jacksonville, Fla. On the other hand, sandwiched between those two is Philadelphia.

"That's no surprise," some one may say, recalling the old jokes about Philadelphia's slowness. "Everybody in that place is dead." But Philadelphia's recent accomplishments in good government give the answer to that time-honored quip. It is really surprising, however, to find that New York City, far and away our largest city, received honorable mention.

If Philadelphia and New York can reduce street and traffic noises, any town can. Noisy streets are no more to be desired than a noisy home. Clamor in the streets makes noisy the homes whose windows open upon them.

The main difficulty with tires that go flat is that they always seem to be quite selective about the place — away from everything, especially service stations.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A STUDENTS REVOLT

Racial relations are vexed throughout the world, particularly where racial or religious groups live in close proximity. Then barriers are set up to prevent intermarriage. This is as true of the caste system in India as among the numerous races that compose the population of the United States; it is as true of Northern and Southern Ireland as it is of Mississippi or Georgia.

Thee revolt of the students of Georgia Tech is significant because these students took the position that a game arranged should proceed according to schedule regardless of special political circumstances that may prevail temporarily. The Governor of Georgia had intervened in the affairs of the students because a Negro was on the opposite team. The students rejected his right to decide for them with whom they should play.

It is not inherent in the attitude of these students that they will vote against segregation, that they will vote Republican or that they will vote for Walter George against Herman Talmadge. What, in effect, they said was that they want to play football, that they want to play Pittsburgh, that Pittsburgh has the right to select its own team and that this is sports not politics.

The students won the day and everyone seemeed satisfied except those politicians who lost face. This doees not mean that the Negro problem is solved in Georgia or anywhere else, or that anyone has yet come up with an easy solution. There are no easy solutions for difficult racial problems, which involve marriages among persons of different races, religions and nationalities. While there are plenty of exceptions to all rules, most parents are opposed to inter-marriage and take whatever steps they can to guide their children into marriages within the narrow margins of their own kind. Furthermore, a ruling class will take whatever steps are possible to prevent a minority or newcomers from being masters even when the latter may have become a numerical majority. History is replete with examples of the correctness of this view.

Student demonstrations, whenever they occur, are an index to the basic thinking of a community. When they are spontaneous, they reflect a mass weariness with the attitudes of those in power. Even if fomented from outside, they cannot occur unless the time is ripe for them to occur. I have witnessed student demonstrations in China and Japan which actually changed the history of the world. Against them, armies were of no avail because the soldiers would not kill their own kind, preferring to join them. I do not recall a single, spontaneous student demonstration that failed to be effective, not because the students were numerous or powerful, but because the students' ideas mirrored table conversation at home, the talk of boy and girl, the jam sessions in dormitories.

From this experience, it would appear to me that the younger people are fed up with the incessant emphasis on the race problem and find football a more serious subject. During visits to colleges in recent years, I found students more interested in such emotional subjects as religion rather than politics. During the past several years, I have sat with thousands of students who preferred to debate the relative merits of Bach and Dixieland Jazz.

What seems primary to one generation looks like small talk to another. If you want to test this, get into a debate with a group of college freshmen or high school seniors on the great subjects of private enterprise and public power. Usually the debate will end in a broader discussion on how the oldsters messed up the lives of their own children by their violent emotionalism over trivialities. Religious differences are being battered down generally and the more we go to war, the faster racial differences seem unimportant because while the life you save may be your own, the fellow who helps to save it may be a socially unrecognizable helot of another race.

Those who believe in racial purity should not go to war assisted by those whom they dislike. I learned that in Great Britain, last Spring, when oldsters were complaining about their colored problem, which, I understand, also has developed into something among the Nordics of Germany. Too many of the Herrenvolk are giving birth to colored children.

The consequences of the Georgia Tech demonstration neeed to be studied sociologically.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

DEFINITIONS FOR WORD "PLACEBO"

There have been many definitions given for the word "placebo" pronounced "plas-ee'-bo" with the emphasis on the middle syllable. One medical dictionary says it is from the Latin for "I will please" and is a medicine given to please or gratify the patient. Other definitions call it a "treatment measure which is administered largely or entirely for its psychological effect and not because of any drugs contained in it (of which there are none)." This definition does not limit usage to drugs. It is reasonable, for example, to speak of a heat treatment as having a placebo effect.

The patient's faith in his physician adds great psychic power to the effectiveness of any form of treatment and makes the placebo an important aid in treatment. What constitutes a good placebo cannot be definitely stated because what may be a good one for one patient may not be so for another even though he has a similar condition. However, anything that is so used must be inexpensive and nonpoisonous.

What are some of the situations in which placebos are used? Sometimes a placebo may be needed as a stopgap to relieve distressing symptoms in a patient who must undergo prolonged diagnostic tests. An injection of sterile water for a patient after operation who is being weaned away from opiates may aid in preventing the establishment of a drug habit. Sometimes placebos are given in cases in which no scientific treatment exists. To tell a patient with such a condition that there is no help for him would be cruel and negligent. In dealing with patients whose dependent need for emotional security is great, the physician may use placebos, not to deceive, but as an added emotional link with the patient.

A placebo should not be given where there is any lack of confidence between patient and physician. No placebo should be given for a prolonged period. If the placebo is in tablet form it should not be made to look like aspirin in color, shape, or size. When withdrawing a placebo on which a patient has become dependent, it will not help him to be told it was only a placebo.

A special indication for the use of placebos is the double-blind test of the effectiveness of a new drug. In such research testing, neither the physician nor the patient knows whether the patient is getting an active drug or a placebo. The active drug and the placebo are exactly alike in appearance and taste and may be called just "Drug A" and "Drug B." A test group is given one drug and another group is given the other. The results can thus be seen on comparison. If the symptoms of a chronic disease are being treated, such as rheumatoid arthritis, there is time to switch the drugs so that the control group gets the other drug. When neither physician nor patient knows which he is getting, it prevents the kind of wishful thinking that may see improvement where none actually exists.

Chronic Rheumatism or Arthritis

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—The famous "cost-price squeeze" which has been pinching the farmers progressively since the 1951 peak, will continue in 1956 and beyond. This is the official opinion of the Department of Agriculture's Annual Outlook Conference, just concluded in Washington.

Farm prices dropped seven per cent November, 1954, to November, 1955. In the two previous years the drop was about five per cent. Since 1951, net farm income has dropped an average of a billion dollars a year.

The experts predict that the supply of farm products may increase by another 10 per cent over the next five years. This is expected to depress farm prices further. But the drop next year may not be as great as in the two years past.

It wasn't the function of the Outlook Conference to come up with any remedies. But nearly everybody else has his pet solution.

Even Carmine G. DeSapio, the Tammany Hall farmer from the sidewalks of New York, now criticizes the GOP for not having a good farm program.

MOST CONGRESSMEN are coming back to Washington with pet farm bills.

Rep. Phil Weaver (R-Neb) for instance, proposes the government subsidize the prices of things farmers buy, so as to bring the parity ratio up to 100. The parity ratio is now at 81.

The National Grange has just met in Cleveland and come up with its plan for larger soil conservation payments.

National Farm Bureau Federation meets in Chicago, Dec. 11. It can be counted on to produce voluminous resolutions.

But for a really massive assault on this issue, top prize must go to a 600-page book just put out by Twentieth Century Fund. Its title is "Can We Solve the Farm Problem?"

A brief boil-down of its 250,000 words would seem to be, "No, we can't."

If this book were thrown at a Congressman interested in solving the farm problem, and it hit him, he'd drop dead.

THE RESEARCH REPORT does turn up the startling statistic that from 1932 through 1955, the U. S. government has spent over $20 billion on farm aid programs.

In the period, American agriculture fed and clothed two wars. But the net result today is $7 billion dollars worth of surpluses and a depressed farm economy.

In somewhat general terms, the experts who made this study come up with a few broad recommendations.

Murray R. Benedict, professor of agricultural economics at University of California, was in charge. His work was then reviewed by the Twentieth Century Fund's policy committee, headed by Jesse W. Tapp, board chairman of Bank of America.

Some conclusions:

"Farmers will eventually find it necessary to adjust their output to amounts the market will absorb at prices they are willing to accept . . .

"Government accumulation of stocks . . . cannot be continued very long." The policy committee therefore recommends a lowering of price support levels.

NOW THIS IS interesting, but maybe not for the reasons the distinguished panel of economists thought it was.

The Twentieth Century Fund was established by the late Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant and a leading liberal. The Fund's board of trustees today includes such liberals as Adolf A. Berle, Francis Biddle, Bruce Bliven, Ben Cohen, David Lilienthal, Robert Oppenheimer and Charles P. Taft.

When men of this stripe can support a research project which concludes there's something wrong with high, rigid price supports — even if they take 600 pages to say it — maybe that's progress.

Church Saluted for 600 Years.

The church of Notre Dame in Etretat, France which was built in the 12th century and overlooks the English Channel was very proud of the statue of St. Pierre de la Manche which was fished out of the sea and placed within the church. For 6 centuries, every passing ship was required to dip its flag to the church. If a ship failed to do so, it was quickly brought to reason by the guns of the nearby Fort Frefosse.

'Competitive Co-Existence' Facts Seen Denied Public

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 12 — The American people have not yet been given the "facts of international life," particularly in connection with the new formula of "competitive co-existence" which is supposed to describe the battle of the East and West to win "neutralist" countries. The discussion at present is confined to the inner councils of the Administration, but Congress is bound to bring it all out in the open in the coming session.

The point at issue is this: How long can the American taxpayers be expected to spend billions of dollars abroad without getting some direct benefit in the way of national security?

SHOULD THE United States, for example, by furnishing economic aid, bid for the friendship of India and other Asian countries or of Egypt in the Middle East? Is it the duty of the Asian countries themselves to ward off communism or is it the obligation of the United States to persuade and cajole them with dollars to do what they ought to do anyhow? Why should it be necessary to bribe nations to be realistic in the face of the record of Communist aggression?

These questions go to the heart of the controversies that have arisen in Asia and the Middle East, where America now is placed in the position of either agreeing to furnish billions of dollars of help or else seeing the various countries allegedly "being pushed into the arms of Moscow."

What is difficult for the average observer to understand is why the government of India, for instance, has to be urged with dollars to choose the West instead of the East and why Egypt thinks her independence would ever be protected by the Soviet Union.

A POLICY that is bound to be given consideration here is whether it wouldn't be a good idea to let India know that if Nehru and his sinister handyman—Krishna Menon—want to embrace Communist imperialism and allow themselves to become the puppets of Moscow in the international field, the United States may say: "'Go ahead, put yourself under the Communist yoke and when you have experienced its 'joys' long enough and see the dangers to your independence, come back to us—if you can then get disentangled—and we will welcome you as a loyal ally."

Indications are that "neutralist" countries like India, which cannot seem to make up their minds whether they want to tie up with gangster governments or with free governments, will have a hard time getting economic aid from the Congress of the United States. Democrats as well as Republicans think very much the same about it. The American policy is bound to be selected.

EVERYBODY knows that Israel, on the other hand, is innately imbued with Western ideals. There is naturally a strong pro-American sentiment in Israel and a strong pro-Israel sentiment in the United States just as there have always been strong ties between Americans of Irish ancestry and Ireland. The First allegiance of the American Jews is to the United States, but it is natural for many of them for sentimental reasons along with many non-Jews to be deeply sympathetic with the efforts of the infant republic of Israel to preserve her independence in the troubled Middle East.

The principle involved is not a "Jewish question." In fact, in recent months it has become an American defense question due to Egypt's peculiar behavior.

It looks now as if it will be to the best interests of the United States government to play ball with Israel and, if necessary, to furnish military aid as in the case of Iran, Iraq, Pakistan, Turkey and Greece. For Israel, unlike Egypt, has not tried to play the Western alliance off against the Kremlin in a sort of bidding match.

THE POLICY of standing by America's friends and allies is well illustrated in the statement made by Secretary of State Dulles about "Portuguese provinces" which has been criticized by some Democratic politicians as indiscreet. But Mr. Dulles in his implicit opposition to aggresson either with respect to Goa, the Portuguese colony on the west coast of India, or Macao, which is off the coast of Red China, was rightly positive and not indiscreet at all. He might well have gone further and bluntly reminded the Indian government that Portugal is our ally, and holds the Azores—a very vital base for our Air Force and our Navy in the Atlantic Ocean. It is a thousand times more necessary to stand by a long-time friend like Portugal than to worry about hurt feelings in New Delhi, where the steady tirade of insults against the United States during the last few years has not gone unnoticed in this country.

Not only is America unable to afford large expenditures of taxpayers' money to "buy" allies in Asia — where hundreds of millions of people still live under primitive conditions—but Russia cannot really do it either. It may be better policy, moreover, to let Russia try to take on the job. The larger the external burdens Moscow undertakes with heavy drains on capital goods, the greater the internal pressures. Likewise, the longer the needed consumer goods are witheld from the Russian people, the sooner will come the day of the crackup of the Kremlin.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I am not sure that we are the only country which prints its paper money in one color and one uniform size for all denominations, but I have seen no such obdurate stupidity in any other nation in my travels this year. I suspect that we are unique here. And even if we have the company of one or more others in this fault, that does not improve our own condition. We profess to be smart, alert, practical and adaptable.

Our bill for specs and doctors' fees for examinations and mysterious prescriptions proves that our eyes are, on the average, far below perfection and the humor of other literate countries shows that we have given the world an impression that the typical American wears horn-rimmed glasses practically all his waking hours.

To be sure, many of us, especially our youth, have perfect vision. It has not been many years since I could read with the naked eye the fine print on a two-bit accident policy sold in a railroad station, and often did so to revel in the droll ingenuity of eminent counsel in devising close-knit patterns of loop-holes. But the strain imposed by 20-watt bulbs in chain hotels finally had its effect and I am today one of those millions who, as many witty fellows often say, could read better if our arms were twice as long. My arms are only half that long and I find it hard to distinguish a $1.00 bill from a ten and a ten from a twenty.

I have trouble with all of them, for that matter, especially, but not exclusively, in shadowy surroundings, and I suspect that I have lost a substantial amount of lawful currency by my inability to note that I am handing over more than I intend to for routine services, accommodations and, let us say, razor-blades. Unwilling to believe ill of my fellowmen, especially victims of the same impairment, I prefer to hope that in all such cases, the party of the other part has been innocent and, after counting up at the end of the day, has confided to his pillow a resolve to send the difference to Mrs. Roosevelt for her favorite charity.

The West Germans have good, strong folding money of distinctive and unmistakable colors to set apart the categories. The Italian lire, by itself does not exist except as a counting unit, but the notes, or, as we call them, bills, are green for the 50's, worth about 8 cents, and a dull red for the hundreds. Their next denomination is 500, unmistakable by its size even to a blind man, and the 1,000-lire note, somewhat larger, has dimensions alloted to no other. After that, the Italians go to 5,000 lire, which is rather more than a day's pay for a laborer, and then to ten. These coarse notes are of the same size and texture and it must be admitted that they can be confused because the numerals in the corners are not emphatic against their back-ground, although their colors are not quite alike. No doubt mistakes occur, with consequent losses and gains, but the average run of the Italian people have less traffic than Americans with fives and tens and probably handle them more carefully. The American regards them, in an unspoken process of the mind, as 8 and 16-dollar bills and this unseats his reason.

The coins of Italy and France are rank trash, contemptible even to the common man, except by the handful, but ironically the West German marks, ein, zwei und funf are solid stuff, apparently silver and similar to our own, which latter, by the way, are growing scarce all over, except quarters. That is to say that half-dollars are rare, possibly because many of us have formed a habit of squirreling them away in a vague apprehension of hard-times to come, while silver dollars have vanished except from Nevada where they are kept in circulation by the slot-machine traffic. Dimes are absorbed and sequestered by the million in vending machines and there is so little that a nickel will buy that the jitney nowadays is most often only the half of another dime in the price of something.

The British have large notes for multiples of their anemic quid and these open out like newspapers so that, whatever the print says, they are not likely to be mishandled except in the west end of London where a special type of four-flusher flaunts inflated money with a sadly garish ostentation. When the British fiver lost grandeur, Britain lost an asset not measurable in sterling.

The American dollar bill is basic and obviously should retain exclusively the green which has stood for the dollar since the day of the green-back. The five, however, could be fool-proofed by red, or, if you prefer, blue or yellow ink. For the ten, twenty and fifty a convenient choice of unmistakable colors remains, including black and white and juke-box arrangements of stripes.

There would be good reason not to change the size in any case because wallets and cash-drawers have been designed for the present measurements.

Things are too dull around here.

As Tom Dewey used to elocute from the tail-gates out west, that's why it's time for a change.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, DECEMBER 12, 1955

AVERELL IS SERIOUS

Carmine DeSapio, Tammany boss and chief political lieutenant to Governor Averell Harriman of New York, has added another dimension to the 1956 race for the Democratic presidential nomination. He has made clear Harriman is no token candidate.

Harriman himself has consistently asserted he is not in the fight, but this has always been taken to mean he would not enter primaries or other strenuous campaign activities.

All along it has been known his name would be presented to the Chicago convention as a favorite son. But observers were divided on whether this meant he was a serious prospect "hanging in" to see if Adlai Stevenson might falter, or merely a token figure bent on holding his strength out until the strategic moment.

DeSapio said in so many words that the New Yorkers are not playing games. What that signifies is that if there is the slightest sign that Stevenson is slipping from his present party eminence, Harriman and his backers will go with a rush.

It is even conceivable that, by one means or another, they might seek to bring about Stevenson's decline. In politics it happens all the time.

HAZARDOUS 20 PER CENT

The safety experts are in the habit of directing their remarks to all motorists in their campaigns to reduce highway fatalities. This is certainly advisable, since everyone needs to be prodded to stay on the alert when he gets behind the wheel. But evidence suggests that a general appeal isn't enough.

About 80 per cent of our traffic accidents are caused by only 20 per cent of the drivers, according to the family economics bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Company.

This 20 per cent more often than not shows a record of both repeated law violations and repeated accidents. Safety experts rate these people "accident prone" and doubt that fatality and injury totals will drop materially so long as they operate cars in their accustomed fashion.

Every car improvement designed for safety—better brakes, tires, power for acceleration in passing—is taken by the 20 per cent as invitation to new risks. As each new device widens the margin of safety, these drivers promptly close it again by pressing their luck at higher levels.

It's time the dangerous 20 per cent of drivers who cause four-fifths of the accidents got the special attention they deserve.

Instead of merely waiting for opportunity to knock, be ready to greet it through preparation. Being ready at the right moment is a big part of the secret of success.

OUR QUIETEST CITIES

Most people asked to name the quietest cities in the nation would be apt to think of the smaller ones. They would be partly right. The National Noise Abatement Council has given its 1955 achievement awards to two moderate-sized cities, Memphis, Tenn., and Jacksonville, Fla. On the other hand, sandwiched between those two is Philadelphia.

"That's no surprise," some one may say, recalling the old jokes about Philadelphia's slowness. "Everybody in that place is dead." But Philadelphia's recent accomplishments in good government give the answer to that time-honored quip. It is really surprising, however, to find that New York City, far and away our largest city, received honorable mention.

If Philadelphia and New York can reduce street and traffic noises, any town can. Noisy streets are no more to be desired than a noisy home. Clamor in the streets makes noisy the homes whose windows open upon them.

The main difficulty with tires that go flat is that they always seem to be quite selective about the place — away from everything, especially service stations.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

A STUDENTS REVOLT

Racial relations are vexed throughout the world, particularly where racial or religious groups live in close proximity. Then barriers are set up to prevent intermarriage. This is as true of the caste system in India as among the numerous races that compose the population of the United States; it is as true of Northern and Southern Ireland as it is of Mississippi or Georgia.

Thee revolt of the students of Georgia Tech is significant because these students took the position that a game arranged should proceed according to schedule regardless of special political circumstances that may prevail temporarily. The Governor of Georgia had intervened in the affairs of the students because a Negro was on the opposite team. The students rejected his right to decide for them with whom they should play.

It is not inherent in the attitude of these students that they will vote against segregation, that they will vote Republican or that they will vote for Walter George against Herman Talmadge. What, in effect, they said was that they want to play football, that they want to play Pittsburgh, that Pittsburgh has the right to select its own team and that this is sports not politics.

The students won the day and everyone seemeed satisfied except those politicians who lost face. This doees not mean that the Negro problem is solved in Georgia or anywhere else, or that anyone has yet come up with an easy solution. There are no easy solutions for difficult racial problems, which involve marriages among persons of different races, religions and nationalities. While there are plenty of exceptions to all rules, most parents are opposed to inter-marriage and take whatever steps they can to guide their children into marriages within the narrow margins of their own kind. Furthermore, a ruling class will take whatever steps are possible to prevent a minority or newcomers from being masters even when the latter may have become a numerical majority. History is replete with examples of the correctness of this view.

Student demonstrations, whenever they occur, are an index to the basic thinking of a community. When they are spontaneous, they reflect a mass weariness with the attitudes of those in power. Even if fomented from outside, they cannot occur unless the time is ripe for them to occur. I have witnessed student demonstrations in China and Japan which actually changed the history of the world. Against them, armies were of no avail because the soldiers would not kill their own kind, preferring to join them. I do not recall a single, spontaneous student demonstration that failed to be effective, not because the students were numerous or powerful, but because the students' ideas mirrored table conversation at home, the talk of boy and girl, the jam sessions in dormitories.

From this experience, it would appear to me that the younger people are fed up with the incessant emphasis on the race problem and find football a more serious subject. During visits to colleges in recent years, I found students more interested in such emotional subjects as religion rather than politics. During the past several years, I have sat with thousands of students who preferred to debate the relative merits of Bach and Dixieland Jazz.

What seems primary to one generation looks like small talk to another. If you want to test this, get into a debate with a group of college freshmen or high school seniors on the great subjects of private enterprise and public power. Usually the debate will end in a broader discussion on how the oldsters messed up the lives of their own children by their violent emotionalism over trivialities. Religious differences are being battered down generally and the more we go to war, the faster racial differences seem unimportant because while the life you save may be your own, the fellow who helps to save it may be a socially unrecognizable helot of another race.

Those who believe in racial purity should not go to war assisted by those whom they dislike. I learned that in Great Britain, last Spring, when oldsters were complaining about their colored problem, which, I understand, also has developed into something among the Nordics of Germany. Too many of the Herrenvolk are giving birth to colored children.

The consequences of the Georgia Tech deminstration neeed to be studied sociologically.

That Body of Yours

DEFINITIONS FOR WORD "PLACEBO"

There have been many definitions given for the word "placebo" pronounced "plas-ee'-bo" with the emphasis on the middle syllable. One medical dictionary says it is from the Latin for "I will please" and is a medicine given to please or gratify the patient. Other definitions call it a "treatment measure which is administered largely or entirely for its psychological effect and not because of any drugs contained in it (of which there are none)." This definition does not limit usage to drugs. It is reasonable, for example, to speak of a heat treatment as having a placebo effect.

The patient's faith in his physician adds great psychic power to the effectiveness of any form of treatment and makes the placebo an important aid in treatment. What constitutes a good placebo cannot be definitely stated because what may be a good one for one patient may not be so for another even though he has a similar condition. However, anything that is so used must be inexpensive and nonpoisonous.

What are some of the situations in which placebos are used? Sometimes a placebo may be needed as a stopgap to relieve distressing symptoms in a patient who must undergo prolonged diagnostic tests. An injection of sterile water for a patient after operation who is being weaned away from opiates may aid in preventing the establishment of a drug habit. Sometimes placebos are given in cases in which no scientific treatment exists. To tell a patient with such a condition that there is no help for him would be cruel and negligent. In dealing with patients whose dependent need for emotional security is great, the physician may use placebos, not to deceive, but as an added emotional link with the patient.

A placebo should not be given where there is any lack of confidence between patient and physician. No placebo should be given for a prolonged period. If the placebo is in tablet form it should not be made to look like aspirin in color, shape, or size. When withdrawing a placebo on which a patient has become dependent, it will not help him to be told it was only a placebo.

A special indication for the use of placebos is the double-blind test of the effectiveness of a new drug. In such research testing, neither the physician nor the patient knows whether the patient is getting an active drug or a placebo. The active drug and the placebo are exactly alike in appearance and taste and may be called just "Drug A" and "Drug B." A test group is given one drug and another group is given the other. The results can thus be seen on comparison. If the symptoms of a chronic disease are being treated, such as rheumatoid arthritis, there is time to switch the drugs so that the control group gets the other drug. When neither physician nor patient knows which he is getting, it prevents the kind of wishful thinking that may see improvement where none actually exists.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—The famous "cost-price squeeze" which has been pinching the farmers progressively since the 1951 peak, will continue in 1956 and beyond. This is the official opinion of the Department of Agriculture's Annual Outlook Conference, just concluded in Washington.

Farm prices dropped seven per cent November, 1954, to November, 1955. In the two previous years the drop was about five per cent. Since 1951, net farm income has dropped an average of a billion dollars a year.

The experts predict that the supply of farm products may increase by another 10 per cent over the next five years. This is expected to depress farm prices further. But the drop next year may not be as great as in the two years past.

It wasn't the function of the Outlook Conference to come up with any remedies. But nearly everybody else has his pet solution.

Even Carmine G. DeSapio, the Tammany Hall farmer from the sidewalks of New York, now criticizes the GOP for not having a good farm program.

MOST CONGRESSMEN are coming back to Washington with pet farm bills.

Rep. Phil Weaver (R-Neb) for instance, proposes the government subsidize the prices of things farmers buy, so as to bring the parity ratio up to 100. The parity ratio is now at 81.

The National Grange has just met in Cleveland and come up with its plan for larger soil conservation payments.

National Farm Bureau Federation meets in Chicago, Dec. 11. It can be counted on to produce voluminous resolutions.

But for a really massive assault on this issue, top prize must go to a 600-page book just put out by Twentieth Century Fund. Its title is "Can We Solve the Farm Problem?"

A brief boil-down of its 250,000 words would seem to be, "No, we can't."

If this book were thrown at a Congressman interested in solving the farm problem, and it hit him, he'd drop dead.

THE RESEARCH REPORT does turn up the startling statistic that from 1932 through 1955, the U. S. government has spent over $20 billion on farm aid programs.

In the period, American agriculture fed and clothed two wars. But the net result today is $7 billion dollars worth of surpluses and a depressed farm economy.

In somewhat general terms, the experts who made this study come up with a few broad recommendations.

Murray R. Benedict, professor of agricultural economics at University of California, was in charge. His work was then reviewed by the Twentieth Century Fund's policy committee, headed by Jesse W. Tapp, board chairman of Bank of America.

Some conclusions:

"Farmers will eventually find it necessary to adjust their output to amounts the market will absorb at prices they are willing to accept . . .

"Government accumulation of stocks . . . cannot be continued very long." The policy committee therefore recommends a lowering of price support levels.

NOW THIS IS interesting, but maybe not for the reasons the distinguished panel of economists thought it was.

The Twentieth Century Fund was established by the late Edward A. Filene, Boston merchant and a leading liberal. The Fund's board of trustees today includes such liberals as Adolf A. Berle, Francis Biddle, Bruce Bliven, Ben Cohen, David Lilienthal, Robert Oppenheimer and Charles P. Taft.

When men of this stripe can support a research project which concludes there's something wrong with high, rigid price supports — even if they take 600 pages to say it — maybe that's progress.

'Competitive Co-Existence' Facts Seen Denied Public

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Dec. 12 — The American people have not yet been given the "facts of international life," particularly in connection with the new formula of "competitive co-existence" which is supposed to describe the battle of the East and West to win "neutralist" countries. The discussion at present is confined to the inner councils of the Administration, but Congress is bound to bring it all out in the open in the coming session.

The point at issue is this: How long can the American taxpayers be expected to spend billions of dollars abroad without getting some direct benefit in the way of national security?

SHOULD THE United States, for example, by furnishing economic aid, bid for the friendship of India and other Asian countries or of Egypt in the Middle East? Is it the duty of the Asian countries themselves to ward off communism or is it the obligation of the United States to persuade and cajole them with dollars to do what they ought to do anyhow? Why should it be necessary to bribe nations to be realistic in the face of the record of Communist aggression?

These questions go to the heart of the controversies that have arisen in Asia and the Middle East, where America now is placed in the position of either agreeing to furnish billions of dollars of help or else seeing the various countries allegedly being pushed into the arms of Moscow."

What is difficult for the average observer to understand is why the government of India, for instance, has to be urged with dollars to choose the West instead of the East and why Egypt thinks her independence would ever be protected by the Soviet Union.

A POLICY that is bound to be given consideration here is whether it wouldn't be a good idea to let India know that if Nehru and his sinister handyman—Krishna Menon—want to embrace Communist imperialism and allow themselves to become the puppets of Moscow in the international field, the United States may say: "'Go ahead, put yourself under the Communist yoke and when you have experienced its 'joys' long enough and see the dangers to your independence, come back to us—if you can then get disentangled—and we will welcome you as a loyal ally."

Indications are that "neutralist" countries like India, which cannot seem to make up their minds whether they want to tie up with gangster governments or with free governments, will have a hard time getting economic aid from the Congress of the United States. Democrats as well as Republicans think very much the same about it. The American policy is bound to be selected.

It looks now as if it will be to the best interests of the United States government to play ball with Israel and, if necessary, to furnish military aid as in the case of Iran, Iraq, Pakistan, Turkey and Greece. For Israel, unlike Egypt, has not tried to play the Western alliance off against the Kremlin in a sort of bidding match.

THE POLICY of standing by America's friends and allies is well illustrated in the statement made by Secretary of State Dulles about "Portuguese provinces" which has been criticized by some Democratic politicians as indiscreet. But Mr. Dulles in his implicit opposition to aggresson either with respect to Goa, the Portuguese colony on the west coast of India, or Macao, which is off the coast of Red China, was rightly positive and not indiscreet at all. The Italian lire, by itself does not exist except as a counting unit, but the notes, or, as we call them, bills, are green for the 50's, worth about 8 cents, and a dull red for the hundreds. Their next denomination is 500, unmistakable by its size even to a blind man, and the 1,000-lire note, somewhat larger, has dimensions alloted to no other. After that, the Italians go to 5,000 lire, which is rather more than a day's pay for a laborer, and then to ten. These coarse notes are of the same size and texture and it must be admitted that they can be confused because the numerals in the corners are not emphatic against their back-ground, although their colors are not quite alike. No doubt mistakes occur, with consequent losses and gains, but the average run of the Italian people have less traffic than Americans with fives and tens and probably handle them more carefully. The American regards them, in an unspoken process of the mind, as 8 and 16-dollar bills and this unseats his reason.

The coins of Italy and France are rank trash, contemptible even to the common man, except by the handful, but ironically the West German marks, ein, zwei und funf are solid stuff, apparently silver and similar to our own, which latter, by the way, are growing scarce all over, except quarters. That is to say that half-dollars are rare, possibly because many of us have formed a habit of squirreling them away in a vague apprehension of hard-times to come, while silver dollars have vanished except from Nevada where they are kept in circulation by the slot-machine traffic. Dimes are absorbed and sequestered by the million in vending machines and there is so little that a nickel will buy that the jitney nowadays is most often only the half of another dime in the price of something.

The British have large notes for multiples of their anemic quid and these open out like newspapers so that, whatever the print says, they are not likely to be mishandled except in the west end of London where a special type of four-flusher flaunts inflated money with a sadly garish ostentation. When the British fiver lost grandeur, Britain lost an asset not measurable in sterling.

The American dollar bill is basic and obviously should retain exclusively the green which has stood for the dollar since the day of the green-back. The five, however, could be fool-proofed by red, or, if you prefer, blue or yellow ink. For the ten, twenty and fifty a convenient choice of unmistakable colors remains, including black and white and juke-box arrangements of stripes.

There would be good reason not to change the size in any case because wallets and cash-drawers have been designed for the present measurements.

Things are too dull around here.

As Tom Dewey used to elocute from the tail-gates out west, that's why it's time for a change.

Changes Are Made In Mail Handling

As a result of a recent Congress of the member countries of the Postal Union of the Americas and Spain held in Bogota, Columbia, U. S. international mails will be handled more efficiently and with considerable savings in costs, Postmaster General Summerfield announced today.

The 21 Republics of North and South America, the Dominion of Canada and Spain make up this Union which concluded the 4-week session of its Seventh Quinquennial Congress at Bogota, Columbia in November.

REPORTING ON THE results of the Congress, Postmaster General Summerfield called attention to certain important changes initiated by the U. S. delegation.

Reflecting the good will and cooperative spirit of the member countries, the Congress adopted several revisions proposed by the United States delegation to improve the international Postal Service. To facilitate the flow of printed matter it voted favorably on the United States' proposal that the maximum weight for packages of printed matter be increased from 22 to 33 pounds. In addition to permitting larger single mailings of such matter, this action will enable Postal Administrations to reduce handling costs and expedite delivery to addressees.

TO PROVIDE GREATER uniformity where possible between the country's domestic and international Postal Service, the Congress substituted insured for registered parcel post service, thus making available a realistic system of indemnities in the case of loss, rifling or damage of such mail in the U. S. international as well as in its domestic service.

Among the operational changes permitted by the Congress at the suggestion of the United States is the elimination of expensive time-consuming procedures in the handling of international parcel post. Under the new agreement effective March 1, 1956, the United States will be able to modify its procedures so as to eliminate cumbersome costly handling methods and record keeping considered unnecessary in the United States system but required previously under existing international agreements.

He added that, although present vacancies do not exist in all post offices, he hopes that the advantages of a postal career will attract alert young Americans to file for Civil Service examinations for postal positions as they are anonunced. Information about examinations may be obtained at local post offices.

Those attending from Kingston were Attorney Arthur B. Ewig, Alfred D. Ronder and Charles S. Ronder of the accountancy firm of Ronder and Ronder; Herman J. Eaton, Attorney Vincent G. Connelly, Howard A. DeWitt, assistant trust officer of the State of New York National Bank and John E. Jordan, manager of the local office of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who was accompanied by several agents from his staff.

Kingston Savings Bank Declares Dividend

At a meeting of the trustees of the Kingston Savings Bank held Friday evening a regular quarterly dividend at the rate of 2¾ per cent per annum was declared for the quarter period ending December 31, 1955.

This increase of ¼ per cent in dividend reflects the growing business of the bank and also the increased mortgage portfolio. During the past year there has been a very substantial increase in deposits, an official of the bank stated, making possible the increased dividend rate.

Our Biased Thinking

By FRANK TRIPP

From the chairman of a high school senior English class, apparently discussing the "teen-age problem"—for want of a sadly needed better name—comes a thought provoking letter, saying in part:

"Your article on 'Parentless Children' we feel is a perfect example of one of the major causes of juvenile delinquency. Since you seem interested in presenting the situation in its true light, we thought perhaps you could give us some facts concerning possible examples of biased reporting of news involving teen-agers."

My reply was based upon a bit of research into what it is that teen-agers call "biased reporting." I found no specific examples where names of individuals were involved; yet frequent damning generalities. Names preclude reportorial speculation; their absence can encourage it.

The youngsters' justifiable gripe long has been the adult pastime of tossing into a kitty all of the community and country-wide deeds of wayward youth and referring to the whole indiscriminately as the "teen-age problem."

Who can blame responsible youth for being pretty well fed up on it?

* * *

TOO MANY glibly charge to youth, as a class, the vandalism and viciousness of the irresponsible. Decidedly we do when the offenders are not identified; because of immunity and censorship established by law, unwisely applicable in countless cases. The real bias stems from our own firesides, from our very thoughts.

Youth is rebelling, understandably aiming the attack at adult society, rather than at what, in my judgment, is the real target.

What they basically seek is to have their individual responsibility recognized; not all be tarred by the same stick. So I wrote the class chairman as follows:

IT IS an injustice to teen-agers that they, as a class, do bear the public odium brought about by the overt acts of individuals among them. When names of offenders are suppressed, the whole group to which they belong suffers public mistrust.

To grant to any group of society immunity or special privilege, approaching criminal license, automatically casts suspicion upon all members of that group.

Teen-agers' real quarrel is with the system that declares, by statute, that any individual is morally irresponsible per se, solely because of his age. It treats responsible youth as infants.

* * *

MOST OF the teen-agers whom I know understand right from wrong as well as their elders. If I were still one of them I would resent and fight a system that destroyed my individuality and smeared me every time a miscreant of my age got into trouble.

This injustice largely results from a subtle kind of well-meant censorship that harms all teen-agers; the suppression of names in vengeful violations (not mistakes and pranks). The law is too broad in protection of vicious delinquents, because of their age.

It has brought about the biased public attitude that is mistaken for "biased reporting." Reporters only mirror their day.

* * *

THAT WHICH LOOKS like biased reporting is honest reporting of biased public thinking. As a generation thinks and acts, so it is bound to read the news.

All through history runs the story of persecuted groups, unjustly judged because of the deeds of a few.

Invariably a free flow of information would have prevented it; and always it has been recognition of the right of the people to know that has ultimately corrected it.

Saved by Bullets

Abbeville, S. C. (AP)—Exploding bullets served as the fire alarm which saved Mr. and Mrs. Joe Able and their three children when their home caught fire. The explosion of the bullets stored in a closet awakened Mrs. Able and she roused the others. The fire of undetermined origin did an estimated $5,000 damage to the five-room frame house.

PLOWED PROFITS

A leading oil company has recently announced it will spend about $1,200,000,000 during 1956 in its search for oil, and in improving refinery and marketing operations. This news is the kind that thousands of investors should ponder over.

For profits that are plowed back into a business are sure signs of a growing enterprise. And it is better for a stockholder to buy a value carrying growth and paying a fair return than to purchase a decadent value with a large yield.

In the field of investment finance there is no more interesting study than that of corporation fiscal policy. What does that mean? Just this: How are income, expenditures and debt handled? Every business, regardless of size, has a fiscal policy. Sometimes it is good, sometimes bad.

But most corporations that plow profits back are in sound shape and can stand economic reverses and, given half a chance, can grow.

ONE IMPORTANT reason I like all of the major oil company common stocks is that, under present tax laws, they are allowed good depletion and depreciation charges. Many companies charge off yearly $275,000 of every $1,000,000 of oil production. Thus, one million dollars of production can be written off in a few years, even though the oil wells produce for decades.

The success of Amerada Petroleum in recent years is partially due to its depletion policies which save on taxes and at the same time build up large cash reserves that can be used in development and exploratory work. No enterprise in America has plowed back profits to better advantage than Amerada.

I hope that, as a result of this article, many stockholders will begin to study more intently where their corporations' money goes. If you think dividends are too small (a common complaint) ask yourself this question: "Are the directors far-seeing men who are looking ahead ten years and making plans for future growth?"

A year ago, I received many fan mail letters all asking the same question: "XYZ Company has just reduced the dividend and the stock has gone down $15 a share. Should I hold it?"

Surface decisions are far too prevalent among stockholders. What caused this XYZ dividend cut? Well, the company was bringing out new products at considerable cost. And the directors had the choice of borrowing a lot of money or of cutting the dividend and borrowing nothing.

They elected to cut the dividend. Hundreds of stockholders didn't understand this particular fiscal act and foolishly sold their stock—many at a loss.

Plowing profits back into a business is often at the temporary expense of the stockholder. Yet in nine cases out of ten, he eventually benefits by such an act.

During 1956 I wish millions of common stockholders would start studying the profit-plowing procedures of the enterprises of which they are part-owners. Ascertain (1) how much money is being spent for research; (2) how much for development and expansion and (3) how much for improved operation.

Then over against these expenditures consider how these will make your corporation grow. Maybe then you will be satisfield with reasonable dividends accompanied by growth.

THE FORUM: (Q) "Will you give me your opinion about these stocks?"—J. T.

(A) They are all junk, costing from ten to 40 cents a share. Why do small investors still buy stocks saturated with risk when they can buy 'blue chips' and get dividends and growth? Furthermore, no investor should buy a stock until he has a savings bank account and some insurance (if he can get it).

Says UN Should Give Arabs-Israelis Security

Buffalo, Dec. 12 (AP)—A foreign policy specialist says the United States and the United Nations should give the Arabs and Israelis a security pledge "guaranteeing their present borders without prejudice to future territorial adjustments."

Mrs. Vera Micheles Dean, editor of the Foreign Policy Bulletin and visiting professor of government at the University of Rochester, said last night the present Arab-Israeli tension was a condition "which everyone fears to stop by a decisive if painful operation."

She urged also that the great powers help finance resetlement and compensation payments for Arab refugees, and that they try to persuade Arab states to end their economic blockade of Israel.

Mrs. Dean spoke before the annual meeting meeting of the Buffalo Chapter of the American Jewish Committee.

The Foreign Policy Bulletin is a publication of the Foreign Policy Association, a private research organization.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Rebekah Lodge Plans Yule Party Dec. 21

Woodstock, Dec. 12—The Agapae Rebekah Lodge will hold a Christmas party at the next meeting, December 21, at the Bearsville Lodge hall for the children of all members. The meeting will begin at 7:30 promptly. Each is asked to bring a small gift to be exchanged.

There will be a school of instruction for all members and officers on Saturday, Dec. 17, at the Colonial Rebekah Lodge, Kingston. Supper will follow the afternoon session, served by Colonial Rebekah Lodge and will be followed by an evening session.

Members are invited to attend Maratanza Rebekah Lodge at Ellenville on Dec. 22, when they are having initiation of new members.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Christmas Dance Set December 29

Woodstock, Dec. 12 — The December 29 dance to be held at 8 p. m. at the Woodstock School will be sponsored by the Woodstock Christmas program, whose funds are obtained from citizens and organizations. Children from the 5th to 12th grades are all welcome and there will be no admission fee. The dance is to be a gala affair with "Porkey" Provenzano to provide the music. Joseph Forno has donated the door prize. The Little Shop was the donor of the gift for last month's dance.

The public's awareness of the importance of these monthly dances for the teen-agers has increased and there will be a greater effort on the part of the Parent-Teacher Association to see that funds for these events are never lacking. All planning, decorating and chaperoning is provided by the dance committee headed by Miss Mary Harris and Mrs. Lee Frodsham. However, the band, food and cost of decorating materials must be paid for by sponsors or the P-TA, which through lack of membership has met with a large treasury deficit.

The continuing of these dances would have been impossible were is not for such civic-minded organizations as the Rotary Club, Woodstock Fire Department, Recreation Committee and Kermit Schwarz. Individual donations from interested parents who realize the value of these events also increased the treasury. The boys and girls learn to dance, meet new friends, enjoy themselves, are off the streets and well chaperoned.

The P-TA would like to remind residents that there should be no lack of funds for a project so worthy.

Water Bills Due

Woodstock, Dec. 12—Water bills have been mailed, according to Mrs. Clayton Harder, town clerk, and are due for 30 days without added penalty.

Hi-Y Proposes New Measures

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—The New York State Youth and Government Assembly has approved "bills" that would require medical examiners at all school athletic events and establish fellowships for study of psychiatry.

The mock legislative body, sponsored by the New York state Hi-Y, also passed measures over the weekend to provide for radio instruction for civil defense purposes and establish a commission to study and revise the state's adoption laws. The three-day session ended yesterday.

THE BOY governor, George R. Crolick of Auburn, vetoed a proposal to establish hospitals for treatment of drug addicts. He said planned expansion of hospitals for the mentally ill could take care of the need. Crolick objected also to free treatment for all, on the ground that those who could afford it should be required to pay. The measure was sponsored by the Flushing club.

A bill that would have required public schools to display the Ten Commandments was defeated 106-96 in the Assembly. It was sponsored by Peter Warren of the Nassau-Suffolk county YMCA.

OTHER defeated proposals would have classified motor vehicle law violations as crimes, established more training schools for juvenile delinquents and set aside funds for Salk anti-polio shots.

Donald W. Pellis of Newburgh was elected Saturday night as president of the State Hi-Y. Other officers chosen were Sandra J. Bidwell of Niagara Falls, vice president; Kathy Woods of Olean, secretary; James H. Sloan of Schenectady, treasurer; and John K. Landio of Rochester, chaplain.

Says UN Should Give Arabs-Israelis Security

Buffalo, Dec. 12 (AP)—A foreign policy specialist says the United States and the United Nations should give the Arabs and Israelis a security pledge "guaranteeing their present borders without prejudice to future territorial adjustments."

Mrs. Vera Micheles Dean, editor of the Foreign Policy Bulletin and visiting professor of government at the University of Rochester, said last night the present Arab-Israeli tension was a condition "which everyone fears to stop by a decisive if painful operation."

She urged also that the great powers help finance resettlement and compensation payments for Arab refugees, and that they try to persuade Arab states to end their economic blockade of Israel.

Mrs. Dean spoke before the annual meeting meeting of the Buffalo Chapter of the American Jewish Committee.

The Foreign Policy Bulletin is a publication of the Foreign Policy Association, a private research organization.

Rebekah Lodge Plans Yule Party Dec. 21

Woodstock, Dec. 12—The Agapae Rebekah Lodge will hold a Christmas party at the next meeting, December 21, at the Bearsville Lodge hall for the children of all members. The meeting will begin at 7:30 promptly. Each is asked to bring a small gift to be exchanged.

There will be a school of instruction for all members and officers on Saturday, Dec. 17, at the Colonial Rebekah Lodge, Kingston. Supper will follow the afternoon session, served by Colonial Rebekah Lodge and will be followed by an evening session.

Members are invited to attend Maratanza Rebekah Lodge at Ellenville on Dec. 22, when they are having initiation of new members.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

Christmas Dance Set December 29

Woodstock, Dec. 12 — The December 29 dance to be held at 8 p. m. at the Woodstock School will be sponsored by the Woodstock Christmas program, whose funds are obtained from citizens and organizations. Children from the 5th to 12th grades are all welcome and there will be no admission fee. The dance is to be a gala affair with "Porkey" Provenzano to provide the music. Joseph Forno has donated the door prize. The Little Shop was the donor of the gift for last month's dance.

The public's awareness of the importance of these monthly dances for the teen-agers has increased and there will be a greater effort on the part of the Parent-Teacher Association to see that funds for these events are never lacking. All planning, decorating and chaperoning is provided by the dance committee headed by Miss Mary Harris and Mrs. Lee Frodsham. However, the band, food and cost of decorating materials must be paid for by sponsors or the P-TA, which through lack of membership has met with a large treasury deficit.

The continuing of these dances would have been impossible were is not for such civic-minded organizations as the Rotary Club, Woodstock Fire Department, Recreation Committee and Kermit Schwarz. Individual donations from interested parents who realize the value of these events also increased the treasury. The boys and girls learn to dance, meet new friends, enjoy themselves, are off the streets and well chaperoned.

The P-TA would like to remind residents that there should be no lack of funds for a project so worthy.

Water Bills Due

Woodstock, Dec. 12—Water bills have been mailed, according to Mrs. Clayton Harder, town clerk, and are due for 30 days without added penalty.

Hi-Y Proposes New Measures

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—The New York State Youth and Government Assembly has approved "bills" that would require medical examiners at all school athletic events and establish fellowships for study of psychiatry.

The mock legislative body, sponsored by the New York state Hi-Y, also passed measures over the weekend to provide for radio instruction for civil defense purposes and establish a commission to study and revise the state's adoption laws. The three-day session ended yesterday.

THE BOY governor, George R. Crolick of Auburn, vetoed a proposal to establish hospitals for treatment of drug addicts. He said planned expansion of hospitals for the mentally ill could take care of the need. Crolick objected also to free treatment for all, on the ground that those who could afford it should be required to pay. The measure was sponsored by the Flushing club.

A bill that would have required public schools to display the Ten Commandments was defeated 106-96 in the Assembly. It was sponsored by Peter Warren of the Nassau-Suffolk county YMCA.

OTHER defeated proposals would have classified motor vehicle law violations as crimes, established more training schools for juvenile delinquents and set aside funds for Salk anti-polio shots.

Donald W. Pellis of Newburgh was elected Saturday night as president of the State Hi-Y. Other officers chosen were Sandra J. Bidwell of Niagara Falls, vice president; Kathy Woods of Olean, secretary; James H. Sloan of Schenectady, treasurer; and John K. Landio of Rochester, chaplain.

Wrong Road

Iowa City, Iowa (AP)—Iowa is out of step in highway financing, Robert H. Johnson, a University of Iowa economist says. Johnson says road costs now take 3.3 per cent of Iowans' personal income, compared with the national average of 1.8 per cent. He points out that though Iowa ranks fifth in the nation in mileage of secondary roads and seventh in total street and highway mileage, the state is 16th in number of vehicles, 21st in the income of its people and 22nd both in size of population and land area.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Born at Christmastime

Forty-eight years ago on December 7, 1907, the Christmas Seals that fight tuberculosis throughout the United States was born.

Back in those days tuberculosis was the leading cause of death in this country, but little was done about this dreaded contagious disease. There were some who realized that the American people would never be free of this menace unless the entire nation combined to fight against it, each citizen contributing according to his ability. The Christmas Seal, which had been introduced in Europe several years earlier, was the answer.

So the fight of the American people against one of their chief disease enemies became associated with the Christmas season, the season of giving, of fellowship, or good will toward men. In millions of American homes, the annual arrival of the Christmas Seals traditionally heralds the coming of the joyous holiday season. What Christmas package or letter is complete without Christmas seals? Each one you use helps to pay for year-round efforts against TB by your voluntary tuberculosis association.

The dollars used to buy Christmas seal have helped save millions of American lives. But their work is far from finished, with more than 400,000 Americans now estimated to have active tuberculosis.

Christmas seals work for you every day—in finding the people who have TB without knowing it and whose lives are in danger and who may be endangering your life by spreading TB germs; in showing what you can do to protect yourself and your family from TB, and in supporting research which may some day remove the tuberculosis threat altogether.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street.

Sheriff His Own Victim

Rose Hill, N. C. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Bertis Fussell carried a pistol for 19 years and never had to use it. Then he accidentally became the first victim of his pistol. It happened after he received a call to investigate a disturbance. As he picked up the pistol from his desk, he dropped the weapon. It discharged and the bullet struck him in the calf of the leg.

Plans Studied For Closing of Sampson Base

Sampson Air Force Base, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—Air base officials here have confirmed published reports that the air force is studying plans for the possible closing of the base.

The base officials revealed no details of the proposed shutdown, but they did say the present study did not include the base hospital. The hospital serves patients from all branches of the service in upstate New York.

MEANWHILE, total personnel at the base will be reduced from about 12,000 at present to 6,500 by April, the officials said. This will include a reduction of the base's permanent staff from about 4,900 to 2,500.

The air force had announced earlier that it was cutting the number of trainee arrivals at the base from approximately 6,000 to 2,100 a month because of the high rate of illness at the base during the winter months.

Rep. John Taber (R.-N.Y.), a member of the House Appropriations Committee, has said he would oppose a shutdown.

THE BASE on Seneca Lake, one of three training centers in the country, was taken over by the air force five years ago. It was built by the navy in World War 2.

Census Bureau Will Expand New Population Check

An expansion in the current population survey, designed to improve federal statistics on employment and unemployment, was announced by Jerome Litzky, supervisor of the Census Bureau's district office at New York which participates in the survey.

The expansion in the current population survey, which has been conducted on a sample basis by the Census Bureau for more than a decade, will involve both an increase in the number of households which are interviewed each month and an enlargement in the number of sample areas covered by Census enumerators.

THE EXPANSION will be a gradual one beginning in December. This is being done in order to provide ample time to train new interviewers and to observe their efficiency in practice enumerations as well as applying rigid tests to the sample data they collect.

The supervisor pointed out that the current population survey is authorized by law. This law provides that all information about individuals be kept in strict confidence and that only statistical totals be published. Informaion obtained in the current population survey cannot be used for taxation, investigation or regulation.

Parks and Segregation

Atlanta, Dec. 12 (AP)—Georgia's state parks will be sold if it is not possible to maintain segregation in them legally, according to Lt. Gov. Ernest Vandiver and House Speaker Marvin Moate. They made the predictions yesterday in separate interviews. Both said maintenance of segregation in the face of the U. S. Supreme Court decisions would be one of the major issues during the legislative session starting Jan. 9.

"OPERATION LIFESAVER"—Workmen erect a unique eight by 10-foot traffic warning and safety sign in front of the city hall at Orem, Utah, as part of the town's continuing safety campaign. Operated from a switchboard in city hall, the sign will show a green light as long as no accidents happen. When one does, the light changes to red and if there is a fatality, remains red for three days.

HEALTH FOR ALL

Born at Christmastime

Forty-eight years ago on December 7, 1907, the Christmas Seals that fight tuberculosis throughout the United States was born.

Back in those days tuberculosis was the leading cause of death in this country, but little was done about this dreaded contagious disease. There were some who realized that the American people would never be free of this menace unless the entire nation combined to fight against it, each citizen contributing according to his ability. The Christmas Seal, which had been introduced in Europe several years earlier, was the answer.

So the fight of the American people against one of their chief disease enemies became associated with the Christmas season, the season of giving, of fellowship, or good will toward men. In millions of American homes, the annual arrival of the Christmas Seals traditionally heralds the coming of the joyous holiday season. What Christmas package or letter is complete without Christmas seals? Each one you use helps to pay for year-round efforts against TB by your voluntary tuberculosis association.

The dollars used to buy Christmas seal have helped save millions of American lives. But their work is far from finished, with more than 400,000 Americans now estimated to have active tuberculosis.

Christmas seals work for you every day—in finding the people who have TB without knowing it and whose lives are in danger and who may be endangering your life by spreading TB germs; in showing what you can do to protect yourself and your family from TB, and in supporting research which may some day remove the tuberculosis threat altogether.

This column is sponsored in the interest of better health by the Ulster County TB and Health Association, 74 John street.

Sheriff His Own Victim

Rose Hill, N. C. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Bertis Fussell carried a pistol for 19 years and never had to use it. Then he accidentally became the first victim of his pistol. It happened after he received a call to investigate a disturbance. As he picked up the pistol from his desk, he dropped the weapon. It discharged and the bullet struck him in the calf of the leg.

Plans Studied For Closing of Sampson Base

Sampson Air Force Base, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—Air base officials here have confirmed published reports that the air force is studying plans for the possible closing of the base.

The base officials revealed no details of the proposed shutdown, but they did say the present study did not include the base hospital. The hospital serves patients from all branches of the service in upstate New York.

MEANWHILE, total personnel at the base will be reduced from about 12,000 at present to 6,500 by April, the officials said. This will include a reduction of the base's permanent staff from about 4,900 to 2,500.

The air force had announced earlier that it was cutting the number of trainee arrivals at the base from approximately 6,000 to 2,100 a month because of the high rate of illness at the base during the winter months.

Rep. John Taber (R.-N.Y.), a member of the House Appropriations Committee, has said he would oppose a shutdown.

THE BASE on Seneca Lake, one of three training centers in the country, was taken over by the air force five years ago. It was built by the navy in World War 2.

Census Bureau Will Expand New Population Check

An expansion in the current population survey, designed to improve federal statistics on employment and unemployment, was announced by Jerome Litzky, supervisor of the Census Bureau's district office at New York which participates in the survey.

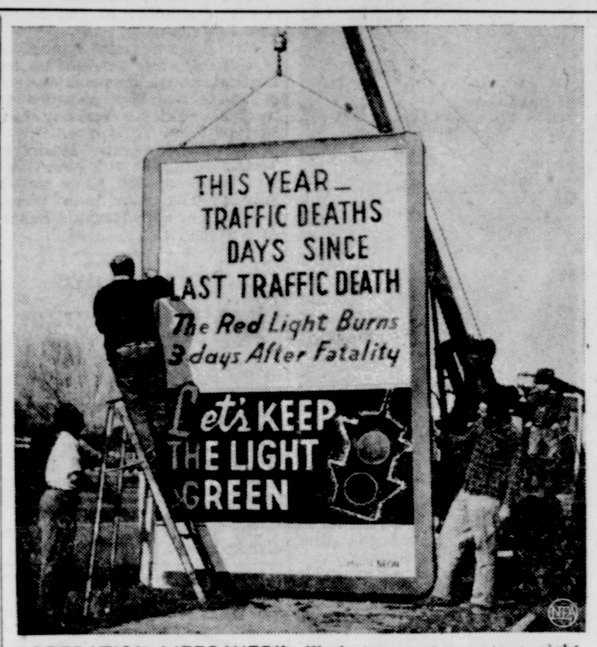
The expansion in the current population survey, which has been conducted on a sample basis by the Census Bureau for more than a decade, will involve both an increase in the number of households which are interviewed each month and an enlargement in the number of sample areas covered by Census enumerators.

THE EXPANSION will be a gradual one beginning in December. This is being done in order to provide ample time to train new interviewers and to observe their efficiency in practice enumerations as well as applying rigid tests to the sample data they collect.

The supervisor pointed out that the current population survey is authorized by law. This law provides that all information about individuals be kept in strict confidence and that only statistical totals be published. Informaion obtained in the current population survey cannot be used for taxation, investigation or regulation.

Parks and Segregation

Atlanta, Dec. 12 (AP)—Georgia's state parks will be sold if it is not possible to maintain segregation in them legally, according to Lt. Gov. Ernest Vandiver and House Speaker Marvin Moate. They made the predictions yesterday in separate interviews. Both said maintenance of segregation in the face of the U. S. Supreme Court decisions would be one of the major issues during the legislative session starting Jan. 9.



"OPERATION LIFESAVER"—Workmen erect a unique eight by 10-foot traffic warning and safety sign in front of the city hall at Orem, Utah, as part of the town's continuing safety campaign. Operated from a switchboard in city hall, the sign will show a green light as long as no accidents happen. When one does, the light changes to red and if there is a fatality, remains red for three days.

ACCEPTING A SECOND INVITATION

Today's first letter tells me: "My husband and I and two other couples made reservations at one of the supper clubs for last Saturday night. It was to be a Dutch treat party. Friday evening, one of the wives who was supposed to come with us, called and said that Mrs. X who is socially prominent in this town had asked her and her husband to a party she was giving Saturday night and said that she would rather go there as it would give her husband an opportunity to meet some important people. I thought she was wrong to accept this other invitation when she had an appointment with us. The other wife feels as I do but our husbands think it was perfectly understandable and that there is no reason to feel slighted. What is your opinion?"

This really depends upon the importance of the opportunity that was offered to her husband by that invitation. Under ordinary circumstances, accepting this second invitation would be the height of rudeness. But if it was a real opportunity for him, I think their "rudeness" might be forgiven..

Christmastime Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married Christmas week and would like to have the church decorated with red flowers and green foliage in keeping with the season. I have been told that red flowers are wrong at a wedding and that only white flowers are correct. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: At this particular season, the Christmas colors would be most suitable.

Registering a Complaint

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be rude to complain about something at a lunch or dinner party given in a restaurant? I mean, can I say something to the waiter who serves me without embarrassing the hostess?

Answer: As a guest, you cannot say anything because the impoliteness would be to the hostess.

ACCEPTING A SECOND INVITATION

Today's first letter tells me: "My husband and I and two other couples made reservations at one of the supper clubs for last Saturday night. It was to be a Dutch treat party. Friday evening, one of the wives who was supposed to come with us, called and said that Mrs. X who is socially prominent in this town had asked her and her husband to a party she was giving Saturday night and said that she would rather go there as it would give her husband an opportunity to meet some important people. I thought she was wrong to accept this other invitation when she had an appointment with us. The other wife feels as I do but our husbands think it was perfectly understandable and that there is no reason to feel slighted. What is your opinion?"

This really depends upon the importance of the opportunity that was offered to her husband by that invitation. Under ordinary circumstances, accepting this second invitation would be the height of rudeness. But if it was a real opportunity for him, I think their "rudeness" might be forgiven..

Christmastime Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married Christmas week and would like to have the church decorated with red flowers and green foliage in keeping with the season. I have been told that red flowers are wrong at a wedding and that only white flowers are correct. Will you please give me your opinion?

Answer: At this particular season, the Christmas colors would be most suitable.

Registering a Complaint

Dear Mrs. Post: Would it be rude to complain about something at a lunch or dinner party given in a restaurant? I mean, can I say something to the waiter who serves me without embarrassing the hostess?

Answer: As a guest, you cannot say anything because the impoliteness would be to the hostess.

Wedding invitations, bridal clothes, the ceremony, and the reception are described in booklet No. 501, "Etiquette of Weddings." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Going back to The Kingston Freeman and Journal, of Friday, May 2, 1919 on safety driving there is an item about Major George F. Chandler, superintendent of our State Police, at which time he issued a bulletin to his 200 state troopers reading in part: "We want to keep the great majority of people friendly to our department. . . . Do not annoy them because you have the authority. Do not make petty arrests for petty misdemeanors, but arrest relentlessly the real law breaker." At that time, the some 200 troopers had to police some 90,000 miles of state highways and rural districts, over which rode some 500,000 automobiles.

In the same issue announcement was made that Miss Eleanor Easton, bacterologist from the state department of health at Albany had been engaged by the local Board of Health as bacteriologist to have charge of the laboratory at 74 John street. This action was taken at a special meeting of the board. She was supposed to receive a salary in addition to the fees. During the diphtheria epidemic the board made arrangements to open the County Laboratory and the State Board of Health sent Miss Easton to take charge of it. Her work had been of such a character that the Health Board decided to engage her to have charge of the laboratory. She is also a pathologist. Miss Eaton was highly recommended by the State Health Board, and her work here met with the approval of local physicians.

The fixtures in the County Laboratory were purchased a short time before Miss Easton's local appointment. The laboratory was to remain at the same location in the county building and the city was to use it rent free. In time from that little office grew our local large building on Broadway.

Those were the days that you could buy the best 50 cent dinner at Satterlee's Kingston Hotel, and Sunday chicken dinner was only 75 cents. Remember the good old-fashioned cane and reed comfortable rockers, you could buy them at Rose-Gorman-Rose, Inc. Lawn seats or benches to seat several people were only 98 cents. Good strong porch rockers were from $1.98 to $6. Today they are called playpens, in 1919 they were called "baby-yards." Those were the days one saw owls in town, real ones I mean. I remember one once sat himself on top of my father's drug sign at 46 Broadway. We all looked at him, and he looked right back to us. I now I was a little afraid of him. I never saw one again in this part of town. Back in May of 1919, John Bittner of Newkirk avenue was building himself a fancy flag pole, painted white and all in his yard. All the neighbors watched and advised. While the job was going on, a huge owl also wanted to play "side-walk superintendent" as he alighted on a wire nearby. All the attention, was immediately given over to the owl, and some even wanted to catch him, but that was not what the owl wanted at all, so he took one more good look at the unfinished flag pole and took off for parts unknown. I wonder if folks see any more owls around, perhaps those who go hunting may run across them.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Going back to The Kingston Freeman and Journal, of Friday, May 2, 1919 on safety driving there is an item about Major George F. Chandler, superintendent of our State Police, at which time he issued a bulletin to his 200 state troopers reading in part: "We want to keep the great majority of people friendly to our department. . . . Do not annoy them because you have the authority. Do not make petty arrests for petty misdemeanors, but arrest relentlessly the real law breaker." At that time, the some 200 troopers had to police some 90,000 miles of state highways and rural districts, over which rode some 500,000 automobiles.

In the same issue announcement was made that Miss Eleanor Easton, bacterologist from the state department of health at Albany had been engaged by the local Board of Health as bacteriologist to have charge of the laboratory at 74 John street. This action was taken at a special meeting of the board. She was supposed to receive a salary in addition to the fees. During the diphtheria epidemic the board made arrangements to open the County Laboratory and the State Board of Health sent Miss Easton to take charge of it. Her work had been of such a character that the Health Board decided to engage her to have charge of the laboratory. She is also a pathologist. Miss Eaton was highly recommended by the State Health Board, and her work here met with the approval of local physicians.

The fixtures in the County Laboratory were purchased a short time before Miss Easton's local appointment. The laboratory was to remain at the same location in the county building and the city was to use it rent free. In time from that little office grew our local large building on Broadway.

Those were the days that you could buy the best 50 cent dinner at Satterlee's Kingston Hotel, and Sunday chicken dinner was only 75 cents. Remember the good old-fashioned cane and reed comfortable rockers, you could buy them at Rose-Gorman-Rose, Inc. Lawn seats or benches to seat several people were only 98 cents. Good strong porch rockers were from $1.98 to $6. Today they are called playpens, in 1919 they were called "baby-yards." Those were the days one saw owls in town, real ones I mean. I remember one once sat himself on top of my father's drug sign at 46 Broadway. We all looked at him, and he looked right back to us. I now I was a little afraid of him. I never saw one again in this part of town. Back in May of 1919, John Bittner of Newkirk avenue was building himself a fancy flag pole, painted white and all in his yard. All the neighbors watched and advised. While the job was going on, a huge owl also wanted to play "side-walk superintendent" as he alighted on a wire nearby. All the attention, was immediately given over to the owl, and some even wanted to catch him, but that was not what the owl wanted at all, so he took one more good look at the unfinished flag pole and took off for parts unknown. I wonder if folks see any more owls around, perhaps those who go hunting may run across them.

"Couldn't Happen" — But They Did!

Annually the National Safety Council rounds up odd accidents that have happened throughout the country during the last year. Here, illustrated, is a quartet of the wackiest ones.

In Milwaukee, animal trainer Robert Beirwirth had been teaching two baby elephants to step on and off 18-inch-high pedestals. Bierwirth blithely tried it himself, slipped and fractured his left ankle. He thinks he heard a couple of trunksful of snickers.

When they named a tavern at Port Huron, Mich., "Dew Drop Inn" it seemed a harmless, if corny pun. But the pun backfired during a heavy wind-and-rainstorm. As waves undermined the shore, the building slipped into Anchor Bay and floated off. One brink too many!

Four-year-old Walter Adams, Jr., in his New York apartment home, was showing his kid brother acrobatic stunts he'd seen on TV. Glancing out the window he saw several small girls on the sidewalk, 40 feet below. Deciding to show them something really good, he opened the window, put his hands together like a high diver—and dove. The girls pulled him out of a big snowbank—nothing hurt but his pride.

In New Liberty, Iowa, 12-year-old David Dahl placed his rifle against a ladder in the barn and started to climb up to the hayloft. His dog, Terry, jumped on the ladder. He struck the gun's trigger with his paw and shot his ascending master just below the hayloft. "Man bites dog" makes news. So does "Dog shoots boy."

3 Die in Shooting

Detroit, Dec. 12 (AP)—Three persons were dead and a fourth wounded today in the aftermath of a wild shooting spree yesterday by a husband-father in the home of his estranged wife. Among the dead was Arthur Jackson, 44, a factory worker who police said put a bullet into his own brain after killing his wife, Vera, 36, and her brother, Harold Brenner, 28. Jackson's 15-year-old daughter, Barbara, was wounded in the right leg by one of eight bullets her father sprayed about the terror-stricken household before reloading his automatic and firing a ninth shot into his own head.

There will be a program with gifts and refreshments. Mrs. Arthur Jacobs, the lecturer, read a list of 25 or more members who had served the Grange over a period of years. Of the list those present were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Mackey, Mrs. Mabel Schneider and Mrs. Hattie Elliot. The three ladies were presented corsages. At the meeting January 3 the secret pals will be disclosed and new ones chosen. The program featured the National Grange anniversary year. There were 26 present with Master Albert Schrieber presiding. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Marge Canora, Grover Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Torsone, Mrs. Anthony Williams and John J. Gaffney.

In two days' work in the kitchen of the Methodist Church members of the WSCS made 180 fruit cakes. Each weighed one pound and a quarter and they had been sold prior to the making.

The oil and water color painting class taught by James Scott of Milton in the Adult Education program in the Central School has completed the first section of lessons as announced by John C. Miller. This group will reconvene Wednesday, April 11, for another series of lessons to be taught by Mr. Scott. During the spring season the group plans to do some of the work outdoors on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Any interested persons may join this group by contacting Mr. Miller.

Suit Signal Sets South

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand, illustrating the suit preference signal, is taken from the National Tournament held last August in Chicago. Even though hundreds of experts competed in this tournament, very few saw the correct defensive play.

At one table Harry Fishbein, well known New York expert, opened the ace of clubs and then getting to his partner's hand for a club ruff. This, while an excellent idea, was not quite as eas as it looked.

Bill Root of Miami played the deuce of clubs from the East hand on the first trick. When his partner nevertheless continued with the king of clubs, Root stopped to think.

It was clear that West had started with the doubleton ace-king of clubs. Otherwise Fishbein would have led the kings of clubs first and the ace of clubs next.

It was equally clear to Root that it was up to him to win the third trick in order to lead another club for his partner to ruff. Root could see that his ace of spades could win the third trick, but the problem was to convey this information to his partner.

Root solved the problem by dropping the queen of clubs on his partner's king! The play of this unnecessarily high card indicated that Root's side entry was in a high suit rather than in a low suit. In other words, Root had his entry in spades rather than in diamonds.

Fishbein naturally read the message with ease. At the third trick he led a spade, and Root won with the ace. Root thereupon returned a third round of clubs for Fishbein to ruff, defeating the contract.

At most tables, the East player failed to signal in this manner. At these tables, therefore, West led a diamond at the third trick, and declarer succeeded in making his contract. These declarers won the diamond return, drew trumps, and discaded dummy's losing spade on the exta diamond.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

As Government grows in scope, its expenses sky-rocket and its waste multiplies the cost.

Twenty-two years ago, the rapid increase in taxes started. The Federal, State, and local governments now take more than one-quarter—nearly a third—of the national income.

William Pitt stated in 1748: "No civilization can be acccepted as secure—in which expenditure is greater than revenue."

Mr. Hutton

Anselm Rothschild said: "Give me the power to issue a nation's money and I do not care who makes the laws."

According to the Constitution, Congress controls the purse strings.

When President Truman stated, at a Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, February 19, 1948: "Conditions are too grave in the world at this time to put Congress in control of the purse strings of the country."

Truman wanted to seize the taxing and appropriative authority from Congress and put it in the hands of the Executive Branch, where it does not belong. That was an attempt to rob Congress of its constitutional rights.

Only Congress can make possible less spending. Or, shall I say, the people?

You know, neighbor, the present Congress is a New Deal-Fair Deal political outpost and wants to recapture the White House, which is "whole-hogged" for twenty years. Should it succeed, then comes another "tax-and-spend" spree—and you will lose your shirt!

When the Doaks get tired of paying almost a third of their income to Government, it will stop. Not before.

Harlem Magicians Score Over New York Olympians, 69-59

Tatum Hits 34, Regales Crowd With Old Tricks

Haynes Also in Act; Scores Fifteen Points

Reeece "Goose" Tatum, the Clown Prince of Basketball, came to town with a new cast and a load of old tricks yesterday.

In (echo-ridden) municipal auditorium, the fabulous ex-Harlem Globetrotters conjurer appeared in the livery of the Harlem Magicians along with his old side kick, Marques Haynes, than whom there is no greater dribbler in basketball.

Just for the record, the Magicians scored 69 "points" to defeat their touring partners, the New York Olympians, 69 to 59.

A turnout of less than 300 paid was amused and bemused at the ancient legerdemain of Tatum and the spectacular dribbling antiques of Haynes.

THE MAGICIANS, under new management, adhered pretty much to the Globetrotter format with a pre-game warm-up to jazz music and one splendid vaudeville act—the Flying Nesbitts—a Pittsburgh family troupe that drew warm applause.

Tatum got into the act early and stayed there all the way. He canned 12 "points" in the first period and finished with 34, his outsized arms and uncanny agility—with the help of willing Olympian stooges — finding the hoop for 34 points.

Haynes was credited with 15 points and several times broke into his spectacular dribbling routine. These two "were" the old Harlem Globetrotter. Yesterdays they were surounded by strangers and playing before a shell of their normal size audiences.

BUT LIKE GOOD troupers, the Magicians went through all their stunts and dodges. They put on the baseball and football routine, the human ladder shot. Tatum had his usual collection of dodo balls and performed all his intimitable tricks from the bucket position.

It was a rewarding afternoon for the small crowd that turned out.

Best looking of the Olympians was Bob Righetti, 6 foot 5, ex-San Francisco U. ace who racked up 24 points for the losers.

The boxscore:

Rams Beat Packers, Clinch Crown; Playoff With Browns Set Dec. 26

(By The Associated Press)

It'll be the Cleveland Browns vs. the Los Angeles Rams again for the National Football League title Dec. 26, and if past playoff records mean anything, lok out, brother!

Otto Graham & Co. haven't met the Rams in a playoff in the last three years, but the Cleveland-Los Angeles battles of 1950 and 1951 had the fans gasping.

The Browns, completing their triumphant switch from the All-America conference to the NFL, won the first time 30-28 on Lou Groza's 16-yard field goal with 28 seconds to play. The Rams evened the count the next year 24-17, with the winning touchdown a 73-yard pass play from Norm Van Brocklin to Tom Fears.

Van Brocklin was pitching at the same old stand yesterday as the Rams clinched the Western conference title with a 31-17 victory over Green Bay. But it was a rookie, ex-Maryland star Ron Waller, who brought the cheers in Los Angeles' Memorial Coliseum.

THE RAMS went into the game knowing they had to win, for the scoreboard showed the second place Chicago Bears had completed their season by beating Philadelphia 17-10. Waller ripped off a 55-yard touchdown run on the fourth play of the game and the Rams were never headed. He also scored two more touchdowns on short plunges.

Skeet Quinlan, another Ram veteran, got the other Los Angeles touchdown on a spectacular 55-yard punt return and Van Brocklin completed 12 of 19 passes for 148 yards.

The victory left Los Angeles with an 8-3-1 mark compared to Chicago's 8-4.

The Browns, with their sixth straight Eastern conference title already tucked away, apparently suffered something of a letdown and had to go all out with three touchdowns in the last five minutes to down the Chicago Cardinals 35-24.

Graham, making what he said was positively his last appearance before the home folks, passed for three touchdowns, including a play covering 41 yards to Ray Renfro for the winner. He also clinched the league passing title with an average of 9.30 yards for every pass thrown.

ANOTHER NFL STAR wound up his career at home, but in less successful fashion, as the New York Giants downed Detroit 24-19 despite Doak Walker's 11 points. The Lion star scored a touchdown, kicked a field goal and two conversions to win the scoring title with 96 points.

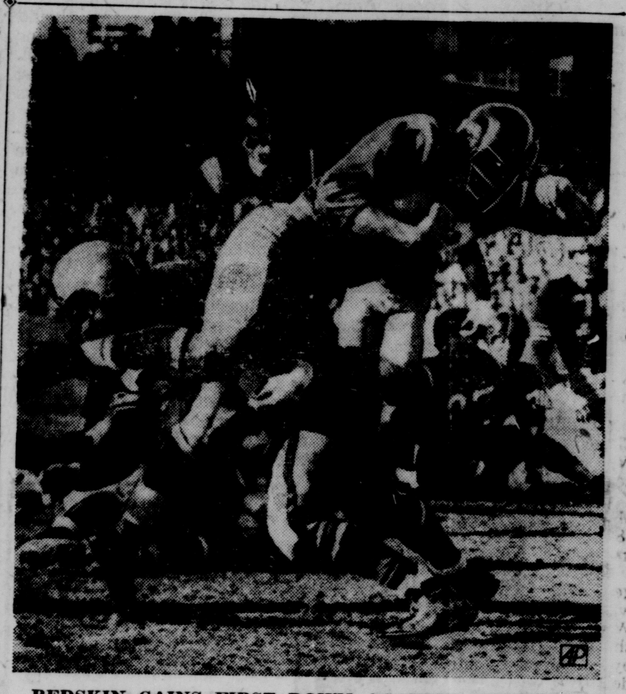
Baltimore's rookie star, Alan Ameche, was held to 29 yards as San Francisco whipped the Colts 35-24, but he wound up with the league rushing title on 961 yards.

Vic Janowicz scored 10 points to set a Washington record of 88 on the season as the Redskins wound up their best year since their 1945 championship with a 28-17 victory over Pittsburgh. The Skins were second to Cleveland in the Eastern conference.

The Philadelphia - Chicago Bears game was an odd sort of double finale for the coaches. George Halas, a pillar of the NFL ever since its formation, has repeatedly said this would be his last year as coach of the Bears and Jim Trimble of the Eagles was expected to be sacked at a meeting of the club executives today.

Birds of Paradise

Kushiro, Japan (AP)—Japan's white, scarlet-crested Sacred Cranes are going to live henceforth in plush surroundings on this northernmost island of Hokkaido. City fathers are building what they call "a well guarded and well organized palatial abode" complete with gardens, bathing pools and nursery grounds for the Sacred Cranes. So far as is known, the breed exists nowhere else in Japan.



REDSKIN GAINS FIRST DOWN AGAINST STEELERS — Vic Janowicz of the Washington Redskins is upset as John Reger of the Pittsburgh Steelers grabs him by the leg in first quarter of pro NFL game at Washington (Dec. 11). Vic made a first down on the Steelers' 30-yard line before he was stopped. Redskins completed their finest season in a decade with a come-from-behind 26-17 victory. Janowicz got 11 of his team's points. (AP Wirephoto).

NBA Checking Telephone Calls To Three Coaches

(By The Associated Press)

Maurice Podoloff, president of the National Besketball Association, said today the league definitely was trying to check on a series of mysterious telephone calls in which three coaches have been offered bribes to either lose a game or control the point spread.

Al Cervi, coach of the Syracuse Nationals, and Bobby Wanzer, player-coach of the Rochester Royals, reported that they received calls from unidentified men before yesterday's games. Last week Charley Eckman of the Fort Wayne Pistons received two such telephone calls.

"We are trying to check them," said Podoloff, "even though I think they are the work of crackpots. But we are stabbing in the dark since all of the calls were long distance and it was impossible to trace them."

The NBA prexy said Eckman's calls came from Minneapolis and Chicago. The call to Cervi, received by an office attendant, came from Minneapolis. Wanzer said his call was from St. Louis. All of the coaches reported the incidents to the police.

"TELL CERVI to lose this game (with Boston) or not win it by more than six points," was the information relayed to the Syracuse coach. "Tell him there will be $1,000 in it for him and a couple of hundred for yourself."

Wanzer said he was told not to win the game with the St. Louis Hawks by more than seven points and "there will be $1,000 in the mail for you tomorrow."

Syracuse won its game from Boston 101-89 for its seventh straight home victory. The Royals beat the Hawks 93-91 to take over first place in the Western division. In the only other league action yesterday Fort Wayne downed the Philadelphia Warriors 96-91.

The NBA standings:

'Put Up or Shut Up' Week Facing Top Cage Teams

(By The Associated Press)

This will be "put up or shut up" week for many of the nation's leading college basketball teams seeking to escape the fate of high-ranking Kentucky and Illinois.

San Francisco, for one, will swing back into action Friday night after a 10-day layoff to meet a good Marquette club in the opener of the DePaul tournament in Chicago. The Dons, defending NCAA champs and rated No. 1 in the preseason Associated Press poll, are 3-0 on victories over Chico State, Southern California and San Francisco State.

The Chicago tourney is certain to prove a stiff test for the Dons. Even if they get past Marquette, it's likely the winner of the second Duquesne-DePaul tilt will be rough in the finals Saturday.

Duquesne was one of the teams which showed to good advantage over the weekend, winning the Steel Bowl title 71-49 over Pittsburgh.

North Carolina State, Utah, Alabama, Dayton and Brigham Young were among the other top ranked schools to go unscathed.

But not so for Kentucky (No. 2) and Illinois (No. 8). The Wildcats, who almost never lose at home, were surprised by Temple 73-61 while Illinois, after running up a 13-point halftime lead, bowed to Missouri 74-73.

Third-ranked N. C. State downed Eastern Kentucky 83-74 for its fourth in a row and 16th straight victory over a two-year span. Utah, No. 5, continued to impress with a 93-63 triumph over Arizona. Alabama, rated sixth, won the Birmingham Classic by overwhelming Valparaiso 82-56. Seventh-ranked Dayton tripped Toledo 62-59 and Brigham Young, No. 10, rolled over Oregon 83-52.

BUT THAT'S ALL in the books and if you think the pollsters are going to have themselves a scrambling time of it this week, they might have to put on blindfolds to "pinpoint" the top 10 teams after Saturday's results are in.

There might, in fact, be a few surprises after tonight's action.

Fourth-ranked Iowa, the Big 10 king of last season, meets Colorado, which has looked good in its only games, both victories over Oregon State and Oregon.

And Kentucky will have an opportunity to make amends against DePaul, which is 3-1 for the year.

In other important games, Louisiana State is at Rice, Oklahoma at Ohio State, SMU at Wisconsin, Tulane at Texas A & M and Oklahoma A & M at Baylor.

Harlem Magicians Score Over New York Olympians, 69-59

Tatum Hits 34, Regales Crowd With Old Tricks

Haynes Also in Act; Scores Fifteen Points

Reeece "Goose" Tatum, the Clown Prince of Basketball, came to town with a new cast and a load of old tricks yesterday.

In (echo-ridden) municipal auditorium, the fabulous ex-Harlem Globetrotters conjurer appeared in the livery of the Harlem Magicians along with his old side kick, Marques Haynes, than whom there is no greater dribbler in basketball.

Just for the record, the Magicians scored 69 "points" to defeat their touring partners, the New York Olympians, 69 to 59.

A turnout of less than 300 paid was amused and bemused at the ancient legerdemain of Tatum and the spectacular dribbling antiques of Haynes.

THE MAGICIANS, under new management, adhered pretty much to the Globetrotter format with a pre-game warm-up to jazz music and one splendid vaudeville act—the Flying Nesbitts—a Pittsburgh family troupe that drew warm applause.

Tatum got into the act early and stayed there all the way. He canned 12 "points" in the first period and finished with 34, his outsized arms and uncanny agility—with the help of willing Olympian stooges—finding the hoop for 34 points.

Haynes was credited with 15 points and several times broke into his spectacular dribbling routine. These two "were" the old Harlem Globetrotter. Yesterdays they were surounded by strangers and playing before a shell of their normal size audiences.

BUT LIKE GOOD troupers, the Magicians went through all their stunts and dodges. They put on the baseball and football routine, the human ladder shot. Tatum had his usual collection of dodo balls and performed all his intimitable tricks from the bucket position.

It was a rewarding afternoon for the small crowd that turned out.

Best looking of the Olympians was Bob Righetti, 6 foot 5, ex-San Francisco U. ace who racked up 24 points for the losers.

Rams Beat Packers, Clinch Crown; Playoff With Browns Set Dec. 26

(By The Associated Press)

It'll be the Cleveland Browns vs. the Los Angeles Rams again for the National Football League title Dec. 26, and if past playoff records mean anything, lok out, brother!

Otto Graham & Co. haven't met the Rams in a playoff in the last three years, but the Cleveland-Los Angeles battles of 1950 and 1951 had the fans gasping.

The Browns, completing their triumphant switch from the All-America conference to the NFL, won the first time 30-28 on Lou Groza's 16-yard field goal with 28 seconds to play. The Rams evened the count the next year 24-17, with the winning touchdown a 73-yard pass play from Norm Van Brocklin to Tom Fears.

Van Brocklin was pitching at the same old stand yesterday as the Rams clinched the Western conference title with a 31-17 victory over Green Bay. But it was a rookie, ex-Maryland star Ron Waller, who brought the cheers in Los Angeles' Memorial Coliseum.

THE RAMS went into the game knowing they had to win, for the scoreboard showed the second place Chicago Bears had completed their season by beating Philadelphia 17-10. Waller ripped off a 55-yard touchdown run on the fourth play of the game and the Rams were never headed. He also scored two more touchdowns on short plunges.

Skeet Quinlan, another Ram veteran, got the other Los Angeles touchdown on a spectacular 55-yard punt return and Van Brocklin completed 12 of 19 passes for 148 yards.

The victory left Los Angeles with an 8-3-1 mark compared to Chicago's 8-4.

The Browns, with their sixth straight Eastern conference title already tucked away, apparently suffered something of a letdown and had to go all out with three touchdowns in the last five minutes to down the Chicago Cardinals 35-24.

Graham, making what he said was positively his last appearance before the home folks, passed for three touchdowns, including a play covering 41 yards to Ray Renfro for the winner. He also clinched the league passing title with an average of 9.30 yards for every pass thrown.

ANOTHER NFL STAR wound up his career at home, but in less successful fashion, as the New York Giants downed Detroit 24-19 despite Doak Walker's 11 points. The Lion star scored a touchdown, kicked a field goal and two conversions to win the scoring title with 96 points.

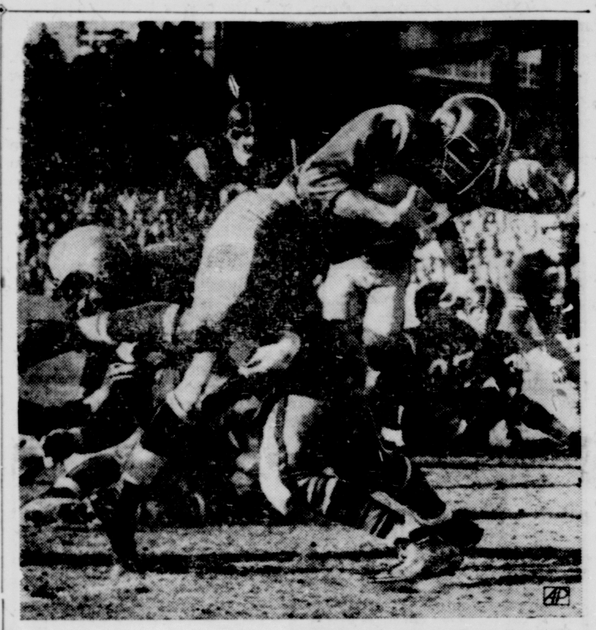
Baltimore's rookie star, Alan Ameche, was held to 29 yards as San Francisco whipped the Colts 35-24, but he wound up with the league rushing title on 961 yards.

Vic Janowicz scored 10 points to set a Washington record of 88 on the season as the Redskins wound up their best year since their 1945 championship with a 28-17 victory over Pittsburgh. The Skins were second to Cleveland in the Eastern conference.

The Philadelphia-Chicago Bears game was an odd sort of double finale for the coaches. George Halas, a pillar of the NFL ever since its formation, has repeatedly said this would be his last year as coach of the Bears and Jim Trimble of the Eagles was expected to be sacked at a meeting of the club executives today.

Birds of Paradise

Kushiro, Japan (AP)—Japan's white, scarlet-crested Sacred Cranes are going to live henceforth in plush surroundings on this northernmost island of Hokkaido. City fathers are building what they call "a well guarded and well organized palatial abode" complete with gardens, bathing pools and nursery grounds for the Sacred Cranes. So far as is known, the breed exists nowhere else in Japan.



REDSKIN GAINS FIRST DOWN AGAINST STEELERS — Vic Janowicz of the Washington Redskins is upset as John Reger of the Pittsburgh Steelers grabs him by the leg in first quarter of pro NFL game at Washington (Dec. 11). Vic made a first down on the Steelers' 30-yard line before he was stopped. Redskins completed their finest season in a decade with a come-from-behind 26-17 victory. Janowicz got 11 of his team's points. (AP Wirephoto).

NBA Checking Telephone Calls To Three Coaches

(By The Associated Press)

Maurice Podoloff, president of the National Besketball Association, said today the league definitely was trying to check on a series of mysterious telephone calls in which three coaches have been offered bribes to either lose a game or control the point spread.

Al Cervi, coach of the Syracuse Nationals, and Bobby Wanzer, player-coach of the Rochester Royals, reported that they received calls from unidentified men before yesterday's games. Last week Charley Eckman of the Fort Wayne Pistons received two such telephone calls.

"We are trying to check them," said Podoloff, "even though I think they are the work of crackpots. But we are stabbing in the dark since all of the calls were long distance and it was impossible to trace them."

The NBA prexy said Eckman's calls came from Minneapolis and Chicago. The call to Cervi, received by an office attendant, came from Minneapolis. Wanzer said his call was from St. Louis. All of the coaches reported the incidents to the police.

"TELL CERVI to lose this game (with Boston) or not win it by more than six points," was the information relayed to the Syracuse coach. "Tell him there will be $1,000 in it for him and a couple of hundred for yourself."

Wanzer said he was told not to win the game with the St. Louis Hawks by more than seven points and "there will be $1,000 in the mail for you tomorrow."

Syracuse won its game from Boston 101-89 for its seventh straight home victory. The Royals beat the Hawks 93-91 to take over first place in the Western division. In the only other league action yesterday Fort Wayne downed the Philadelphia Warriors 96-91.

The NBA standings:

WESTERN DIVISION

'Put Up or Shut Up' Week Facing Top Cage Teams

(By The Associated Press)

This will be "put up or shut up" week for many of the nation's leading college basketball teams seeking to escape the fate of high-ranking Kentucky and Illinois.

San Francisco, for one, will swing back into action Friday night after a 10-day layoff to meet a good Marquette club in the opener of the DePaul tournament in Chicago. The Dons, defending NCAA champs and rated No. 1 in the preseason Associated Press poll, are 3-0 on victories over Chico State, Southern California and San Francisco State.

The Chicago tourney is certain to prove a stiff test for the Dons. Even if they get past Marquette, it's likely the winner of the second Duquesne-DePaul tilt will be rough in the finals Saturday.

Duquesne was one of the teams which showed to good advantage over the weekend, winning the Steel Bowl title 71-49 over Pittsburgh.

North Carolina State, Utah, Alabama, Dayton and Brigham Young were among the other top ranked schools to go unscathed.

But not so for Kentucky (No. 2) and Illinois (No. 8). The Wildcats, who almost never lose at home, were surprised by Temple 73-61 while Illinois, after running up a 13-point halftime lead, bowed to Missouri 74-73.

Third-ranked N. C. State downed Eastern Kentucky 83-74 for its fourth in a row and 16th straight victory over a two-year span. Utah, No. 5, continued to impress with a 93-63 triumph over Arizona. Alabama, rated sixth, won the Birmingham Classic by overwhelming Valparaiso 82-56. Seventh-ranked Dayton tripped Toledo 62-59 and Brigham Young, No. 10, rolled over Oregon 83-52.

BUT THAT'S ALL in the books and if you think the pollsters are going to have themselves a scrambling time of it this week, they might have to put on blindfolds to "pinpoint" the top 10 teams after Saturday's results are in.

There might, in fact, be a few surprises after tonight's action.

Fourth-ranked Iowa, the Big 10 king of last season, meets Colorado, which has looked good in its only games, both victories over Oregon State and Oregon.

And Kentucky will have an opportunity to make amends against DePaul, which is 3-1 for the year.

In other important games, Louisiana State is at Rice, Oklahoma at Ohio State, SMU at Wisconsin, Tulane at Texas A & M and Oklahoma A & M at Baylor.

Lucky, Lucky, Unlucky

San Juan, P. R. (AP)—One of the competitors in the second International Game Fish Tournament lost his upper plate in the Atlantic Ocean. "I'm lucky, though," he said. "I have another set at the hotel." When he took his spare teeth out of a case, he dropped them on the rug. "Lucky they didn't hit the solid floor," he said. As he reached down to pick up the spare set he stumbled and stepped on them. They were shattered.

Win Two Out of Three

Woodstock Tops Diner In Prelim Game, 63-50

Also Beat Catskill Merchants, 102-81

Woodstock Varsity won two out of three weekend games, including "the big one"—a 63-50 conquest of Empire Diner in the prelim to the Harlem Magician game Sunday afternoon at the municipal auditorium.

Coach Walter S. Van Wagenen's basketeers started the three-day series with a 102-81 triumph over the Catskill Merchants Friday night.

SATURDAY they lost at the Pine Plains Merchants with a sub-par lineup, 94-85, when they finished the game with only four men on the floor.

With George Carpouzis and Ward Dunham setting the pace, the Vs ran up a 20-7 first period lead over the Empires and were in charge all the way.

Carpouzis rimmed 19 points and Dunham had 14. Skip Brodhead and Bill Knott hit double figures with 10. Bill DuBois, who played with Woodstock Saturday night, canned 9 for the Empires.

BRODHEAD unloaded 30 points and Dunham hit 24 against the Catskill Merchants, who had Bill Deyo dunk 32. Bob Jennings had 17 and Bill Waterous played his game of the year for the Vs with 16 points and fine floor work.

A couple of 33-point performances by Bill Haber and Bill DuBois failed to save the Vs at Pine Plains. Several of the V regulars were missing. DuBois picked up nine fields and 15 singletons. Haber had 10 deuces and 13 free throws. Shook led Pine Plains with 24 points.

Dairy Drops Three

Leading Teams Beaten in HVBL; Pizzeria Cops Trio With 3038 Score

Saturday night was a rough one for the leading teams in the Hudson Valley Bowling League. The four top quintets won only three games between them.

The local Jones Dairy team lost three games to the also-ran Peter Hand Beer squad at Poughkeepsie.

The trio of defeats would ordinarily have dropped the Dairy five out of its first place spot. But the Jones Boys escaped with a tie as Rapp's Express came up with two wins against the Poughkeepsie Mardi-Bobs at the Bowlodrome, leaving the J-D and M-B teams tied for first place.

The Middletown Merchants blew their chance to gain the lead by dropping two games to Chaffee's Market of Walden.

FORST'S PACKERS, in fourth spot, won only one from the Ellenville Shanahans and now share that slot with Tony's Pizzeria, which came up with three victories against Myers Service Center of Poughkeepsie.

Ellenville Economy Electric scored two victories over the Elston's Sports team in another match.

The top teams:

Jones Dairy	29	13
Mardi-Bob	29	13
Midd. Merchants	28	14
Forst's Packers	26	16
Tony's Pizzeria	26	16

The Pizzeria boys bombed a rousing 3038 triple on the Central Recreation 7-8 drives, with two games over the 1000 mark.

Leading the strike parade were Dick Howard and George Shufeldt. Howard slugged 647, including a 246 middle game. Shufeldt had a steady 217-214-213 for 644. Jimmy Amendola added 602.

GORDIE CLINE of the losers was high man, however, unloading a superb 256-189-231-676.

Jones Dairy couldn't get going against the Peter Hand team. Jackie Ferraro led the locals with 223-578. Bruce Davis, filling in for Johnny Ferraro, had a 571. Dick Rhea bowled a rousing 670 for the Poughkeepsians. This total included a 266 middle game.

Hank Kemmerer, with 634, and Frank Greco (625) led the Shannies against the Forst quintet, which averted a shutout by winning the last game by 10 pins. Randy Kelder led the Packers with a 607.

JACK RUZZO jarred a 671 as the Rappmen upset the Mardi-Bob crew in a high-scoring match. Ruzzo powered 210-225-236.

Rapp's eked out a four-pin victory in the first game and won the second with a 1035 blast as Buster Ferraro socked 247.

Ferraro ended the night with 602. For the visitors, Jake Charter scored 643 and John Avello 622.

The Elston club posted an anemic 2585 while dropping two to the Ellenville Economys. Fred Rice was tops for the Sportsmen with 220-563.

Weeks Boxing Card Small; Saddler Faces Gallardo

By the Associated Press

Featherweight champion Sandy Saddler, getting set for a possible title fight soon with Manila's Flash Elorde, meets veteran Davey Gallardo in a non-title 10-rounder at San Francisco tonight.

The tall, thin New Yorker soundly drubbed Red Top Davis in his last defense on Feb. 25 in Madison Square Garden. Elorde outpointed Sandy in a controversial non-title scrap in Manila July 20.

Lulu Perez, once the top-ranking featherweight contender and now a lightweight, clashes with Italy's Paolo Rosi in a television 10-rounder (Dumont-TV) at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight. Perez has a 33-7-1 won-lost-tie record. Rosi's record is 19-3-0.

Gil Turner of Philadelphia and Jackie La Bua of East Meadow, are the middleweight headliners for the Wednesday night radio-television show (ABC-TV, radio, 10 p. m., EST) at the Syracuse War Memorial auditorium. Their records: Turner, 51-10-1; La Bua 25-7.

Ralph Dupas, 20, third-ranking lightweight contender, and Ludwig Lightburn, 21, up-and-coming British Honduras boxer-puncher, collide in the Madison Square Garden feature Friday night (NBC-TV, radio, 10 p. m., EST). Dupas, unbeaten in his last nine, has a 57-6-5 record. Lightburn, beaten only by welterweight contender Ike Logart this year, has a 35-6 record.

Stotz Gets Confidence Vote In LL Controversy

Pittsburgh, Dec. 12 (AP) — A group of field representatives has given deposed Little League commissioner Carl Stotz its backing in his dispute with the national baseball organization for youngsters.

The vote of confidence, not unexpected, was made yesterday as some 60 field representatives invited here by Stotz, founder of the league, completed a two-day meeting.

Stotz was deposed as commissioner after he announced a $300,000 breach of contract suit against the league. The breach of contract, said Stotz, resulted from changes in by-laws of the organization that damaged his "power, prestige and authority."

Little League has denied the charges, asserting that all changes were made by the board of directors and that Stotz participated in the board actions.

Stotz and league officials meanwhile continue their private negotiations in an effort to effect an out of court settlement of the dispute.

The negotiations have brought to a halt court action on the league's petition for a permanent injunction that would bar Stotz from setting up a rival group to be known as "Original Little League."

Snead Wins Miami Tourney

Miami, Fla., Dec. 12 (AP)—The unlikely combination of an ant mill and a beautifully controlled, sharply slicing two-iron shot helped record-smashing Sam Snead win his sixth Miami Open golf tournament.

The sensational, arcing two-iron shot saved the Slammer after he pulled his drive into the trees in a sudden death playoff with Tommy Bolt yesterday. The ant hill caused Bolt to miss the greeen and he wound up with a bogey while Snead got his par.

Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., veteran, and Bolt, a Texan playing out of Chattanooga, Tenn., finished in a tie for first with nine-under-par 201s at the end of the regulation 54 holes.

Each fired a six-under-par 64 in the final round and bypassed big Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N. Y., who led them by four strokes after 36 holes.

Souchak's final 71 for a 204 total dropped him into a three-way tie for third with Frank Stranahan of Toledo and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis, Mo. Stranahan and Harrison shot 69s. Jay Hebert of Woodmere, N. Y., with a 70, and Fred Wampler of Indianapolis, deadlocked for sixth with 205s.

Lucky, Lucky, Unlucky

San Juan, P. R. (AP)—One of the competitors in the second International Game Fish Tournament lost his upper plate in the Atlantic Ocean. "I'm lucky, though," he said. "I have another set at the hotel." When he took his spare teeth out of a case, he dropped them on the rug. "Lucky they didn't hit the solid floor," he said. As he reached down to pick up the spare set he stumbled and stepped on them. They were shattered.

Win Two Out of Three

Woodstock Tops Diner In Prelim Game, 63-50

Also Beat Catskill Merchants, 102-81

Woodstock Varsity won two out of three weekend games, including "the big one"—a 63-50 conquest of Empire Diner in the prelim to the Harlem Magician game Sunday afternoon at the municipal auditorium.

Coach Walter S. Van Wagenen's basketeers started the three-day series with a 102-81 triumph over the Catskill Merchants Friday night.

SATURDAY they lost at the Pine Plains Merchants with a sub-par lineup, 94-85, when they finished the game with only four men on the floor.

With George Carpouzis and Ward Dunham setting the pace, the Vs ran up a 20-7 first period lead over the Empires and were in charge all the way.

Carpouzis rimmed 19 points and Dunham had 14. Skip Brodhead and Bill Knott hit double figures with 10. Bill DuBois, who played with Woodstock Saturday night, canned 9 for the Empires.

BRODHEAD unloaded 30 points and Dunham hit 24 against the Catskill Merchants, who had Bill Deyo dunk 32. Bob Jennings had 17 and Bill Waterous played his game of the year for the Vs with 16 points and fine floor work.

A couple of 33-point performances by Bill Haber and Bill DuBois failed to save the Vs at Pine Plains. Several of the V regulars were missing. DuBois picked up nine fields and 15 singletons. Haber had 10 deuces and 13 free throws. Shook led Pine Plains with 24 points.

Dairy Drops Three

Leading Teams Beaten in HVBL; Pizzeria Cops Trio With 3038 Score

Saturday night was a rough one for the leading teams in the Hudson Valley Bowling League. The four top quintets won only three games between them.

The local Jones Dairy team lost three games to the also-ran Peter Hand Beer squad at Poughkeepsie.

The trio of defeats would ordinarily have dropped the Dairy five out of its first place spot. But the Jones Boys escaped with a tie as Rapp's Express came up with two wins against the Poughkeepsie Mardi-Bobs at the Bowlodrome, leaving the J-D and M-B teams tied for first place.

The Middletown Merchants blew their chance to gain the lead by dropping two games to Chaffee's Market of Walden.

FORST'S PACKERS, in fourth spot, won only one from the Ellenville Shanahans and now share that slot with Tony's Pizzeria, which came up with three victories against Myers Service Center of Poughkeepsie.

Ellenville Economy Electric scored two victories over the Elston's Sports team in another match.

The top teams:

Jones Dairy	29	13
Mardi-Bob	29	13
Midd. Merchants	28	14
Forst's Packers	26	16
Tony's Pizzeria	26	16

The Pizzeria boys bombed a rousing 3038 triple on the Central Recreation 7-8 drives, with two games over the 1000 mark.

Leading the strike parade were Dick Howard and George Shufeldt. Howard slugged 647, including a 246 middle game. Shufeldt had a steady 217-214-213 for 644. Jimmy Amendola added 602.

GORDIE CLINE of the losers was high man, however, unloading a superb 256-189-231-676.

Jones Dairy couldn't get going against the Peter Hand team. Jackie Ferraro led the locals with 223-578. Bruce Davis, filling in for Johnny Ferraro, had a 571. Dick Rhea bowled a rousing 670 for the Poughkeepsians. This total included a 266 middle game.

Hank Kemmerer, with 634, and Frank Greco (625) led the Shannies against the Forst quintet, which averted a shutout by winning the last game by 10 pins. Randy Kelder led the Packers with a 607.

JACK RUZZO jarred a 671 as the Rappmen upset the Mardi-Bob crew in a high-scoring match. Ruzzo powered 210-225-236.

Rapp's eked out a four-pin victory in the first game and won the second with a 1035 blast as Buster Ferraro socked 247.

Ferraro ended the night with 602. For the visitors, Jake Charter scored 643 and John Avello 622.

The Elston club posted an anemic 2585 while dropping two to the Ellenville Economys. Fred Rice was tops for the Sportsmen with 220-563.

Weeks Boxing Card Small; Saddler Faces Gallardo

By the Associated Press

Featherweight champion Sandy Saddler, getting set for a possible title fight soon with Manila's Flash Elorde, meets veteran Davey Gallardo in a non-title 10-rounder at San Francisco tonight.

The tall, thin New Yorker soundly drubbed Red Top Davis in his last defense on Feb. 25 in Madison Square Garden. Elorde outpointed Sandy in a controversial non-title scrap in Manila July 20.

• • •

Lulu Perez, once the top-ranking featherweight contender and now a lightweight, clashes with Italy's Paolo Rosi in a television 10-rounder (Dumont-TV) at New York's St. Nicholas Arena tonight. Perez has a 33-7-1 won-lost-tie record. Rosi's record is 19-3-0.

Gil Turner of Philadelphia and Jackie La Bua of East Meadow, are the middleweight headliners for the Wednesday night radio-television show (ABC-TV, radio, 10 p. m., EST) at the Syracuse War Memorial auditorium. Their records: Turner, 51-10-1; La Bua 25-7.

• • •

Ralph Dupas, 20, third-ranking lightweight contender, and Ludwig Lightburn, 21, up-and-coming British Honduras boxer-puncher, collide in the Madison Square Garden feature Friday night (NBC-TV, radio, 10 p. m., EST). Dupas, unbeaten in his last nine, has a 57-6-5 record. Lightburn, beaten only by welterweight contender Ike Logart this year, has a 35-6 record.

Stotz Gets Confidence Vote In LL Controversy

Pittsburgh, Dec. 12 (AP) — A group of field representatives has given deposed Little League commissioner Carl Stotz its backing in his dispute with the national baseball organization for youngsters.

The vote of confidence, not unexpected, was made yesterday as some 60 field representatives invited here by Stotz, founder of the league, completed a two-day meeting.

Stotz was deposed as commissioner after he announced a $300,000 breach of contract suit against the league. The breach of contract, said Stotz, resulted from changes in by-laws of the organization that damaged his "power, prestige and authority."

Little League has denied the charges, asserting that all changes were made by the board of directors and that Stotz participated in the board actions.

Stotz and league officials meanwhile continue their private negotiations in an effort to effect an out of court settlement of the dispute.

The negotiations have brought to a halt court action on the league's petition for a permanent injunction that would bar Stotz from setting up a rival group to be known as "Original Little League."

Snead Wins Miami Tourney

Miami, Fla., Dec. 12 (AP)—The unlikely combination of an ant mill and a beautifully controlled, sharply slicing two-iron shot helped record-smashing Sam Snead win his sixth Miami Open golf tournament.

The sensational, arcing two-iron shot saved the Slammer after he pulled his drive into the trees in a sudden death playoff with Tommy Bolt yesterday. The ant hill caused Bolt to miss the greeen and he wound up with a bogey while Snead got his par.

Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., veteran, and Bolt, a Texan playing out of Chattanooga, Tenn., finished in a tie for first with nine-under-par 201s at the end of the regulation 54 holes.

Each fired a six-under-par 64 in the final round and bypassed big Mike Souchak of Grossinger's, N. Y., who led them by four strokes after 36 holes.

Souchak's final 71 for a 204 total dropped him into a three-way tie for third with Frank Stranahan of Toledo and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of St. Louis, Mo. Stranahan and Harrison shot 69s. Jay Hebert of Woodmere, N. Y., with a 70, and Fred Wampler of Indianapolis, deadlocked for sixth with 205s.

Defense

000,000, which went to 12 New York area firms.

Defense contracts of IBM for manufacturing and research projects, principally with the air force, total approximately $400,000,000.

IBM'S DEFENSE WORK is divided into two principal projects: Development and manufacture of air defense computers and development and maufacture of bombing and navigational systems.

The former are the largest digital computers ever built for any purpose. Receiving information from radar outposts, such as Texas Towers located in the ocean miles off shore, these computers will help identify enemy aircraft, then plot their speed, altitude and course for the guidance of intercepting planes and missiles. How they do this, how many there will be, where they will be located and when are military secrets.

DEVELOPMENT WORK on these computers being manufactured here was done in IBM laboratory facilities in Poughkeepsie.

The bombing and navigational systems are highly advanced systems developed by IBM at its Airborne Computer Laboratories at Vestal, N. Y., for automatically guiding supersonic jet bombers to their targets and releasing their bombs.

The $11,640,288 contract just announced is the first production order for these systems and is part of a multi-million dollar over-all contract providing for development and manufacture.

In addition to the new plant at Kingston, IBM has acquired 672 acres at Owego to meet possible needs for addtiional manufacturing and laboratory facilities for military products.

Soothsayer Predicts

Rome, Dec. 12 (AP)—White-haired Achille D'Angelo, who does business as the "Sorcerer of Naples," predicts "a grave crisis in the Kremlin" and "a change in the White House" in 1956. The soothsayer, who has batted about .500 on previous New Year predictions, says the Kremlin crisis will be brought about by "a coupe de force by which the Communist party secretary general will return to the policies of Stalin." His other predictions for the new year include "failure of attempts to reach the moon and mars."

Twins Located

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 12 (AP)—Two 10-year-old brothers mingled tears, prayers and shouts for help yesterday while lost in thick woods for five hours. The disappearance of Ronald and Donald Scott touched off a giant search by about 500 men before they were found 3½ miles from where they vanished while looking for a Christmas tree. The twins were red-eyed from weeping and shivering from the near-freezing cold but otherwise unharmed.

Newfoundland Storm

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 12 (AP)—Newfoundland's recovery from a blizzard, whipped by 75-mile-an-hour winds that piled drifts across main highways and disabled two vessels, may be set back another day, the weather office said today. The storm tore along the Atlantic coast Friday night, dumping 12 to 14 inches of snow on Nova Scotia's south and eastern shore highways and cancelling airline flights out of Halifax and Sydney.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—The stock market declined today in early dealings with some losses running to around 3 points at the outside.

The pressure on prices wasn't pronounced, but there were few plus signs in key areas of the list.

All major divisions were depressed—steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, chemicals, railroads, oils, airlines, and utilities.

Fire Destroys Mail

Fonda, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—Fire today destroyed 30 to 40 bags of mail destined for five upstate communities. The fire broke out in the bags while they were on a hand truck outside the Fonda station of the New York Central Railroad. They were to have been placed aboard a bus for distribution in Fonda, Johnstown, Gloversville, Mayfield and Northville. A corner of the station building was damaged slightly. The cause of the fire, discovered by a night baggageman, was not determined. The mail had been dropped off at Fonda from a train westbound from New York city.

Bomb Call Hoax

Hollywood, Dec. 12 (AP)—A telephone report that a bomb had been planted in a crowded theatre forced police last night to evacuate some 2,000 patrons from the Hollywood-Paramount and Grauman's Chinese theatres. Thorough searches of both revealed no bomb and police labeled the call a hoax.

Hunter Resident Will Share $400,000 Estate

New York, Dec. 11 (Special)—Prof. Harold G. Henderson of "Bungalow Farm," Hunter, and New York, will share largely in the over $400,000 estate left by his mother, the late Mrs. Agnes R. Henderson of New York, it was learned Friday when her will was filed for probate in Surrogate's Court.

According to the terms of the will, Prof. Henderson, who teaches Japanese at Columbia University, will receive outright one-half of the estate remaining after the distribution of specific bequests.

He will also inherit the income for life from a $25,000 trust fund.

A similar bequest goes to Prof. Henderson's brother, Francis, broker, of New York.

Their mother, the widow of Harold Gould Henderson, attorney, died November 27 at the age of 87.

Converted to Farmers

London, Dec. 12 (AP)—Moscow Radio reported today that the reduction of Soviet armed forces by 640,000 men—promised in August—has now been completed. The broadcast confirmed western speculation that a chief purpose of the troop cut was to aid the Kremlin's big drive to increase Soviet agricultural output. The ex-soldiers have been "transferred to agriculture," the radio reported. The original announcement said those being demobilized would return to their home communities for jobs "at industrial establishments and on state and collective farms."

Columbus' Church

Genoa, Italy, Dec. 12 (AP)—St. Stephan's Church, where Christopher Columbus is believed to have been baptized in 1451, was reconsecrated yesterday by Guiseppe Cardinal Siri, archbishop of Genoa. Reconstruction of the 1,000-year-old Roman Catholic Church was completed recently. It had been damaged in World War 2 bombing. There is no written record that the discoverer of America was baptized there. It is assumed he probably was because he was born on Vico Dell'Olivella—the Lane of the Little Olive—nearby.

Snow Clean-Up

Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—Plows and sanders were completing clean-up operations today after a series of weekend storms that left as much as 18 inches of snow in parts of Erie county and other counties to the south. Buffalo collected about three inches since Friday, but the snow got progressively deeper in hilly areas south of the city. Springville was blanketed under 18 inches.

Sudan Head Resigns

London, Dec. 12 (AP)—Sir Knox Helm, British governor general of the Sudan, has submitted his resignation for personal reasons, the foreign office announced today.

OFFICERS Gilbert Gray and Ira Hadsel arrested the other two early today. They were Wilfred LePage, 18, of 145 Ontario street, Cohoes, arrested on East Chester street at 12:47 a. m., and Florence L. Leasure, 21, of 530 Lyndal street, New Castle, Pa., on Broadway at 1:39 a. m. Both forfeited $20 bail.

Hyde Park Man

knocking them to the pavement, Highland state police said. The Brown vehicle then crossed to the other side of the road, striking the Cioffi car in the left rear, causing injuries to Miss Wiser and Mr. Doerr who were sitting in the back seat, troopers reported.

TROOPERS Joe Franke and Charles Bundschuh of the Highland station, who investigated, arrested Mr. Brown on charges of leaving the scene of an accident and operating a vehicle as an unsupervised learner. He was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Patsy Conforti of Highland and committed to the Ulster county jail in lieu of $300 bail. A hearing will be held at 7 p. m. Tuesday, Dec. 20.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle, who investigated with Highland state police, issued a verdict of accidental death due to a lacerated brain resulting from a skull fracture.

Ruby Man Arrested In Katrine Mishap

Allen Gwisz of Ruby suffered a cut on the chin in a two-car collision on the Leggs Mills bridge, Lake Katrine, at 5 p. m., Saturday, Kingston state police reported.

Mr. Gwisz was traveling north on the bridge when his vehicle was in head-on collision with another passenger car operated by Fred Mills of West Pierpont street, Trooper J. Gorman said.

Mr. Gwisz was arrested on charges of reckless driving and insufficient lights. Hearing will be held at 7 p. m. today before Justice of the Peace Millard Davis of the town of Ulster.

The fronts of both vehicles were heavily damaged, troopers said. They were towed away.

Defense

000,000, which went to 12 New York area firms.

Defense contracts of IBM for manufacturing and research projects, principally with the air force, total approximately $400,000,000.

IBM'S DEFENSE WORK is divided into two principal projects: Development and manufacture of air defense computers and development and maufacture of bombing and navigational systems.

The former are the largest digital computers ever built for any purpose. Receiving information from radar outposts, such as Texas Towers located in the ocean miles off shore, these computers will help identify enemy aircraft, then plot their speed, altitude and course for the guidance of intercepting planes and missiles. How they do this, how many there will be, where they will be located and when are military secrets.

DEVELOPMENT WORK on these computers being manufactured here was done in IBM laboratory facilities in Poughkeepsie.

The bombing and navigational systems are highly advanced systems developed by IBM at its Airborne Computer Laboratories at Vestal, N. Y., for automatically guiding supersonic jet bombers to their targets and releasing their bombs.

The $11,640,288 contract just announced is the first production order for these systems and is part of a multi-million dollar over-all contract providing for development and manufacture.

In addition to the new plant at Kingston, IBM has acquired 672 acres at Owego to meet possible needs for addtiional manufacturing and laboratory facilities for military products.

Soothsayer Predicts

Rome, Dec. 12 (AP)—White-haired Achille D'Angelo, who does business as the "Sorcerer of Naples," predicts "a grave crisis in the Kremlin" and "a change in the White House" in 1956. The soothsayer, who has batted about .500 on previous New Year predictions, says the Kremlin crisis will be brought about by "a coupe de force by which the Communist party secretary general will return to the policies of Stalin." His other predictions for the new year include "failure of attempts to reach the moon and mars."

Twins Located

Birmingham, Ala., Dec. 12 (AP)—Two 10-year-old brothers mingled tears, prayers and shouts for help yesterday while lost in thick woods for five hours. The disappearance of Ronald and Donald Scott touched off a giant search by about 500 men before they were found 3½ miles from where they vanished while looking for a Christmas tree. The twins were red-eyed from weeping and shivering from the near-freezing cold but otherwise unharmed.

Newfoundland Storm

Halifax, N. S., Dec. 12 (AP)—Newfoundland's recovery from a blizzard, whipped by 75-mile-an-hour winds that piled drifts across main highways and disabled two vessels, may be set back another day, the weather office said today. The storm tore along the Atlantic coast Friday night, dumping 12 to 14 inches of snow on Nova Scotia's south and eastern shore highways and cancelling airline flights out of Halifax and Sydney.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 12 (AP)—The stock market declined today in early dealings with some losses running to around 3 points at the outside.

The pressure on prices wasn't pronounced, but there were few plus signs in key areas of the list.

All major divisions were depressed—steels, motors, rubbers, aircrafts, chemicals, railroads, oils, airlines, and utilities.

Fire Destroys Mail

Fonda, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—Fire today destroyed 30 to 40 bags of mail destined for five upstate communities. The fire broke out in the bags while they were on a hand truck outside the Fonda station of the New York Central Railroad. They were to have been placed aboard a bus for distribution in Fonda, Johnstown, Gloversville, Mayfield and Northville. A corner of the station building was damaged slightly. The cause of the fire, discovered by a night baggageman, was not determined. The mail had been dropped off at Fonda from a train westbound from New York city.

Bomb Call Hoax

Hollywood, Dec. 12 (AP)—A telephone report that a bomb had been planted in a crowded theatre forced police last night to evacuate some 2,000 patrons from the Hollywood-Paramount and Grauman's Chinese theatres. Thorough searches of both revealed no bomb and police labeled the call a hoax.

Hunter Resident Will Share $400,000 Estate

New York, Dec. 11 (Special)—Prof. Harold G. Henderson of "Bungalow Farm," Hunter, and New York, will share largely in the over $400,000 estate left by his mother, the late Mrs. Agnes R. Henderson of New York, it was learned Friday when her will was filed for probate in Surrogate's Court.

According to the terms of the will, Prof. Henderson, who teaches Japanese at Columbia University, will receive outright one-half of the estate remaining after the distribution of specific bequests.

He will also inherit the income for life from a $25,000 trust fund.

A similar bequest goes to Prof. Henderson's brother, Francis, broker, of New York.

Their mother, the widow of Harold Gould Henderson, attorney, died November 27 at the age of 87.

Converted to Farmers

London, Dec. 12 (AP)—Moscow Radio reported today that the reduction of Soviet armed forces by 640,000 men—promised in August—has now been completed. The broadcast confirmed western speculation that a chief purpose of the troop cut was to aid the Kremlin's big drive to increase Soviet agricultural output. The ex-soldiers have been "transferred to agriculture," the radio reported. The original announcement said those being demobilized would return to their home communities for jobs "at industrial establishments and on state and collective farms."

Columbus' Church

Genoa, Italy, Dec. 12 (AP)—St. Stephan's Church, where Christopher Columbus is believed to have been baptized in 1451, was reconsecrated yesterday by Guiseppe Cardinal Siri, archbishop of Genoa. Reconstruction of the 1,000-year-old Roman Catholic Church was completed recently. It had been damaged in World War 2 bombing. There is no written record that the discoverer of America was baptized there. It is assumed he probably was because he was born on Vico Dell'Olivella—the Lane of the Little Olive—nearby.

Seek Cause of Delay At Plattsburgh Base

Plattsburgh, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—A citizens committee that was instrumental in getting the air force to locate a base here has called a meeting to iron out what its chairman terms a "lag in construction."

The base, which has been under construction about a year and a half, was to have been dedicated last month. The air force has not commented on the delay.

Clyde A. Lewis, an attorney and chairman of the Plattsburgh Air Force Base Liaison committee, said yesterday the "lag in construction has caused almost irreparable damage to our national security." Lewis is a former national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The base is partly operational. Two runways have been opened and about 1,000 of an expected 5,000 men are on duty there.

No date was set for the meeting. Lewis said representatives of contractors, unions, employes and the Air Force would take part.

Blown From Station By Gasoline Explosion

Homer, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—Ralph L. Tortura, 36, was blown about 25 feet through the air when gasoline on the floor of his service station exploded last night.

His eyebrows and hair were singed slightly. He said he "may have collected a few bruises."

Tortura said he had picked up a water hose and was preparing to wash away the gasoline, which had spilled on the floor, when the blast "picked me up off my feet."

He said he could not recall flying through the air but found himself atop a pile of concrete blocks and broken glass outside the station. "I wasn't even knocked out," he added..

The blast tore concrete blocks and steel-encased windows from one wall.

Village firemen extinguished the flames that resulted from the explosion. The fire house is next door to the gas station.

2 State Men Given Rhodes Scholarships

Swarthmore, Pa., Dec. 12 (AP)—Two New York state men have been appointed to two-year Rhodes scholarships for study at Oxford University in England.

Paul Douglas Carter of Palmyra, a student at Hamilton College, and Thomas F. Sherman of Ithaca, a senior at Oberlin College, were among 32 men from 30 states named yesterday.

Dr. Courtney Smith, president of Swarthmore College and American secretary of the Rhodes scholarships, made the announcements.

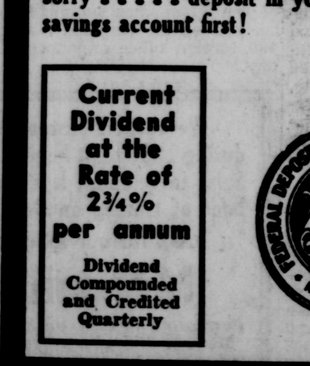
The winners will enter Oxford next fall for study in a field of their choice.

The scholarships were founded in 1903 under the will of Cecil Rhodes. Recipients are chosen on the basis of scholastic attainment, intellect, character, leadership and interest in sports. Unmarried men from 19 to 25, who have completed at least two years of college, are eligible.

Wonderful Dish

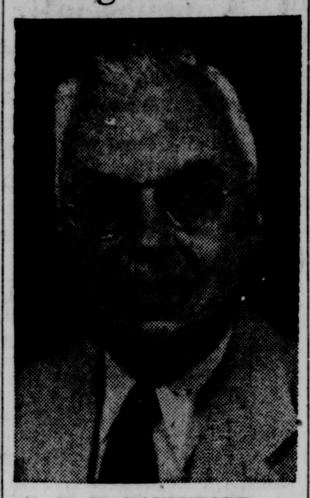
Adapted from the Italian cuisine: cold sliced veal with a dressing of olive oil, wine vinegar, crushed garlic, mashed tuna fish and capers. Wonderful dish for a buffet supper table.

Why We Say--



WORD FOR HOOD: This expression is derived from the French word for "hood." The chaperone was supposed to act as a hood or shield to keep the wrong things out of sight of the young person (usually a girl) being protected.

Public Relations Man to Address Management Club



H. W. DAVENPORT

Guest speaker for the December dinner meeting of the Kingston Industrial Management Club will be Howard W. Davenport, public relations assistant for New York Telephone Co., Albany. The subject of Mr. Davenport's talk, which will be delivered at the YMCA on Thursday, Dec. 15, is "The Fabulous Mite—The Transistor."

Walter Broderick, field representative, New York State School of Industrial and Labor Relations, Cornell University, a unit of the State University of New York, recently attended an organization executive committee meeting to discuss the possibility of the Kingston Industrial Management Club sponsoring an education program for the spring months.

Subjects under consideration for the course are Personnel Development, Supervisory Development, Conference Method, Labor Legislation and Labor Acts.

All plant contact men are reminded to call Warren Eckels House Committee Chairman not later than 12 noon, December 13, in order to make reservations for the December 15 meeting.

Probe Buffalo Fire Cause; Damage Heavy

Buffalo, Dec. 12 (AP)—Authorities today were seeking the cause of fire that caused damage estimated unofficially at more than $200,000 to eight business establishments in a two-story, brick building yesterday.

Three firemen received minor injuries fighting the blaze, but about 100 patrons in a restaurant and several persons in a bowling alley escaped uninjured.

The occupants fled when two explosions, which witnesses said preceded the flames, rocked the building.

Authorities said the fire broke out in another restaurant that had been closed for repairs after having been damaged twice by flames within the past six weeks.

Heaviest damage was caused to the unoccupied restaurant and to the bowling alley on the second floor.

The building, located downtown at Main and Tupper, also housed a branch bank, a paint store, an appliances and piano store, an auto accessories firm, a sewing machine firm, and an awning company.

Seek Cause of Delay At Plattsburgh Base

Plattsburgh, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—A citizens committee that was instrumental in getting the air force to locate a base here has called a meeting to iron out what its chairman terms a "lag in construction."

The base, which has been under construction about a year and a half, was to have been dedicated last month. The air force has not commented on the delay.

Clyde A. Lewis, an attorney and chairman of the Plattsburgh Air Force Base Liaison committee, said yesterday the "lag in construction has caused almost irreparable damage to our national security." Lewis is a former national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The base is partly operational. Two runways have been opened and about 1,000 of an expected 5,000 men are on duty there.

No date was set for the meeting. Lewis said representatives of contractors, unions, employes and the Air Force would take part.

Blown From Station By Gasoline Explosion

Homer, N. Y., Dec. 12 (AP)—Ralph L. Tortura, 36, was blown about 25 feet through the air when gasoline on the floor of his service station exploded last night.

His eyebrows and hair were singed slightly. He said he "may have collected a few bruises."

Tortura said he had picked up a water hose and was preparing to wash away the gasoline, which had spilled on the floor, when the blast "picked me up off my feet."

He said he could not recall flying through the air but found himself atop a pile of concrete blocks and broken glass outside the station. "I wasn't even knocked out," he added..

The blast tore concrete blocks and steel-encased windows from one wall.

Village firemen extinguished the flames that resulted from the explosion. The fire house is next door to the gas station.

2 State Men Given Rhodes Scholarships

Swarthmore, Pa., Dec. 12 (AP)—Two New York state men have been appointed to two-year Rhodes scholarships for study at Oxford University in England.

Paul Douglas Carter of Palmyra, a student at Hamilton College, and Thomas F. Sherman of Ithaca, a senior at Oberlin College, were among 32 men from 30 states named yesterday.

Dr. Courtney Smith, president of Swarthmore College and American secretary of the Rhodes scholarships, made the announcements.

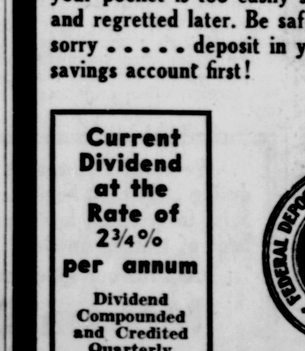
The winners will enter Oxford next fall for study in a field of their choice.

The scholarships were founded in 1903 under the will of Cecil Rhodes. Recipients are chosen on the basis of scholastic attainment, intellect, character, leadership and interest in sports. Unmarried men from 19 to 25, who have completed at least two years of college, are eligible.

Wonderful Dish

Adapted from the Italian cuisine: cold sliced veal with a dressing of olive oil, wine vinegar, crushed garlic, mashed tuna fish and capers. Wonderful dish for a buffet supper table.

Why We Say--



WORD FOR HOOD: This expression is derived from the French word for "hood." The chaperone was supposed to act as a hood or shield to keep the wrong things out of sight of the young person (usually a girl) being protected.

Probe Buffalo Fire Cause; Damage Heavy

Buffalo, Dec. 12 (AP)—Authorities today were seeking the cause of fire that caused damage estimated unofficially at more than $200,000 to eight business establishments in a two-story, brick building yesterday.

Three firemen received minor injuries fighting the blaze, but about 100 patrons in a restaurant and several persons in a bowling alley escaped uninjured.

The occupants fled when two explosions, which witnesses said preceded the flames, rocked the building.

Authorities said the fire broke out in another restaurant that had been closed for repairs after having been damaged twice by flames within the past six weeks.

Heaviest damage was caused to the unoccupied restaurant and to the bowling alley on the second floor.

The building, located downtown at Main and Tupper, also housed a branch bank, a paint store, an appliances and piano store, an auto accessories firm, a sewing machine firm, and an awning company.
